Norris Reservation Puts Administration in Difficult Position

NO REAL OBJECTION

But President Fears Arms Treaty May Be Filled With Reservations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1930, by Post, Pub. Co.
Washington—(AP)—A critical decision has to be made by the administration with respect to the reservation proposed by Senator Norris of Nebraska, to be attached to the London naval treaty.

The reservation simply puts into formal language a statement contained in President Hoover's message to the senate in which he declined to make public certain documents and papers but at the same time gave assurance that there were no secret understandings or obligations and that the text of the treaty contained all of the agreement to which the American delegates had subscribed.

If the administration opposes the reservation it is in the position of being unwilling to have the treaty carry along with it the assurance given by the president. This would mean an increased opposition to the treaty and a prolonged fight with the chances in favor of the reservation being voted into the treaty anyway. Reservations require only a majority vote while the ratification itself must have two-thirds. It was this kind of procedure which caused the Versailles treaty to be so cluttered up with reservations that President Wilson advised Democratic senators to vote against the ratification.

DON'T BIND OTHERS

Since those days it has become clear that reservations do not bind other countries when they are merely limitations upon the signatory nation itself. It is doubtful whether even if there were exchanges of notes they would be regarded as of any value in a controversy as to obligations and whether or not reservation was adopted, they could be used just the same to bolster up a case. While the Norris reservation is therefore not exactly welcome to the administration and the president would prefer to have the treaty ratified without any qualifications nevertheless the passage of the Norris reservation or rather the acceptance of it by the administration would strengthen the latter's hand and make it more difficult for the opposition to gain ground.

Unless a hurdle set up by the Norris reservation is surmounted in the next 24 hours the difficulties of the administration will increase for already the senate is having trouble keeping a quorum.

The opponents of the treaty are dragging things along in the hope that the longer the pact is debated the greater are the chances of postponement of the whole issue to the regular session of congress and ultimately the defeat of the measure through failure to get a vote.

Absent senators are being urged to return to Washington but most of them have already made plans for a vacation and hence are not eager to return—at least not right away. There are signs of a filibuster and some talk of cloture but this is not likely to be adopted as the administration could not be put into the position of curtailing debate.

TWO IDENTIFIED AS FEED MILL HOLDUPMEN

Beloit—(AP)—Two of four persons returned to Rockford Sunday night from Gadsden, Ala., were identified by witnesses as the gunmen who robbed the L. and G. Feed mill in Rockford of $2,600 in merchandise.

Troops Out To End Riot Of Strikers

Alexandria, Egypt—(AP)—Fourteen persons, of whom eight were Europeans, were killed in serious rioting during a general strike here today. About 250 persons were reported injured, many of them seriously.

Alexandria, Egypt—(AP)—Severe fighting between troops and strike rioters today resulted in the injury of many persons, much property damage and the reported deaths of a number of strikers in the streets of Alexandria.

At midday thoroughfares around the square of Mohamed Ali were strewn with stones and the broken glass of hundreds of windows. An army lorry which the rioters had upset was flaming in the square.

Firing at first over the heads of the rioters, the soldiers, it was reported by the Exchange Telegraph company's correspondent, were forced when the demonstrations grew ugly to send their bullets into the mob.

The correspondent reported many casualties, with the dead being removed from the scene in carts.

The police at first swarmed over roofs of nearby buildings in an attempt to cow the thousands of rioters, mostly youths who had participated in a general strike in sympathy with victims of recent political rioting in Mansourah and Sebha.

It was soon seen that the local civil authorities would be unable to cope with the situation and British troops were rushed into action. Their arrival at first made no impression but as the morning waned a measure of quiet was noticeable with the police still firing at intervals into the air.

Patrols of troops were maintained throughout the city.

The demonstration began in order by fashion but before long the young element started breaking shop windows and stoning police who had been called to prevent disorders. The police were forced to retire.

BRUNDIDGE READY TO GIVE TESTIMONY

St. Louis Reporter Cables from Havana That He Will Appear

Chicago—(AP)—Harry Brundidge, a reporter for the St. Louis Star, cabled from Havana, Cuba, last night that he would leave for Chicago to tell the grand jury what he learned in an independent investigation of the Jake Lingle murder.

Brundidge, in articles published in his paper and reprinted here by the Tribune, told of reports involving several other Chicago newspapermen, as well as Lingle, Tribune reporter, in shady practices involving police, politicians and gangsters. He previously offered to tell a grand jury what he had learned, but he balked at the demand that he talk with the state's attorney before he appeared before the grand jury.

Under the present arrangement, he will appear directly before the grand jury.

Today's Tribune said Lingle murder investigators had learned the identity of the Chicago newspaperman whom Brundidge referred to as having made a pleasure trip to Havana with Al Capone, the gang leader. This man, the Tribune said, was Harry Read, city editor of the Evening American.

Methodist ministers of Chicago at the Des Plaines camp meeting passed resolutions yesterday stating the public had "lost confidence in the Lingle investigation," and demanding that State's Attorney Swanson speed up the inquiry "without favor or quibbling."

PUBLISH PROGRAM FOR HONOR GROUP CONFAB

Green Bay—(AP)—Programs for the annual convention of the Great Lakes Harbors association here Aug. 1 and 2 were published today, with a congratulatory message to members on the successful fight against Chicago's diversion of large amounts of water from Lake Michigan.

The message had, however, that "the work of our association has only just begun. The commerce of the Great Lakes is in its infancy. We have something to learn on harbor development, port administration and promotion of lake commerce. This year's meeting will again pay attention to the physical development of lake ports, their administration and operation."

GRAIN ELEVATOR BURNS, LOSS SET AT $20,000

Sussex, Wis.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin yesterday destroyed the Farmer's Cooperative company grain elevator with an estimated loss of $20,000. Several other buildings were threatened by the blaze.

LA FOLLETTE OPENS ATTACK ON GOVERNOR

Blames Kohler and Hoover Policies for Present Economic Depression

Sauk City—(AP)—Philip LaFollette opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor here today by assailing President Hoover and Governor Kohler and charging that the current economic depression is the result of monopoly and the pursuance of their policies.

"There will be no mincing of matters," LaFollette said. The people shall learn the men and the measures which have brought this depression to the farm and the city."

LaFollette's opening speech was the first definite assurance that the industrial depression and its resultant unemployment problems will furnish a main speaking point in his campaign.

That LaFollette will use Governor Kohler's record as a talking point was also assured when he said that candidates must be judged on their official record on vital issues. During the course of the campaign, "I shall review the public record of the governor of this state and his administration," he said.

The speaker sought to show the alliance existing between the national and Wisconsin administrations and pointed out that "the policies of the state and national administrations and their Stalwart predecessors have been to enact legislation for the benefit of special interests at the expense of the great consuming and producing public."

HITS CHAIN BANKS

Turning to the state administration's promise of new industries, LaFollette said the present industries have either shut down or are working only part time. The speaker

MARSHFIELD MAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN SLAYING

Ashland—(AP)—Arraigned in municipal court today on charges of being an accessory to the murder of Charles Erickson, Mellen farmer, 11 years ago, Elmer Evenson, Marshfield pleaded not guilty and failed to make $10,000 bond pending his preliminary hearing Friday.

Two other men, Casper Wasilieski and John Lakasiak of Mellen, are charged with the murder and are also to be given preliminary hearing Friday.

The old murder was traced when officials were investigating the slaying of Samuel Trethway, 57, Mellen reclus.

Erickson's body was found, apparently robbed, after he had left a homecoming celebration in a nearby town late at night. Information against the three held is that they thought he was a marauder when he apparently mistook his way and wandered onto the property of one of them. They are charged with knocking him unconscious and taking the body to a point near the mine settlement where he lived, leaving him there thinking he would recover.

CAPONE TO BUILD NEW $375,000 FLORIDA HOME

Lake Worth, Fla.—(AP)—W. G. Stovall of the contracting firm of Vivian and Stovall, said today his company would begin clearing ground near life insurance for a $375,000 home for "Scarface" Al Capone, Chicago gangster.

He said the residence alone would cost $250,000 and the additional outlay would be for parking and an elaborate swimming pool.

The Broward county tract of 51.2 acres recently was acquired by Vincent C. Giblin of Miami, one of Capone's attorneys, who acted as trustee. Giblin refused to comment on Stovall's statement.

The tract is approximately 40 miles north of Miami, where Capone owns an island estate.

SEES NO FURTHER BIG PURCHASES OF WHEAT

Washington—(AP)—Further large purchases of wheat by farm board agencies were held today by Secretary Hyde to be impracticable.

After a conference with President Hoover, the agriculture secretary said he expected no change in the policies of the board toward the wheat situation at this time. He expressed the view that no government agency could continue to absorb successive surpluses.

It was the purpose of the machinery set up, he said, to absorb occasional depressing surplus to aid producers, but he added, successive purchasing of surplus crops would provide no means, or time, or place of disposition for wheat held.

He asserted the remedy lies in orderly marketing by cooperatives.

Naval Pact Praised As Gain To U.S.

Reed Says Nation Entered Agreement to Save Self from "Inferiority"

Washington—(AP)—The text of the first American proposal made at the London naval conference was given to the senate today by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, one of the delegates, during a brief exchange with Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

Sixty members answered the opening roll-call, eight more than were present yesterday when the other senator-delegate Robinson of Arkansas—argued for the pact. Robinson is the Democratic leader.

Reed said America entered the limitations agreement to save herself from an almost "hopeless inferiority" in auxiliary ships as compared with Great Britain and Japan.

He said Great Britain had a four to one ratio against the United States in commissioned cruisers while Japan had a margin of two to one. The London agreement proposed to establish a 10-10-7 ratio on cruisers.

Leaders were more optimistic today of an early and successful voting of the pact. An informal understanding among friends of the treaty on the Norris resolution appeared to have cleared away the biggest fighting point.

However, the opponents were busy today preparing new reservations. Treaty advocates insisted they would stand for none except that of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, stipulating that in ratification of the pact the senate gave no consent to any secret understandings which may exist.

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, and opponent of the pact, was drafting two reservations. One would provide for freedom of the seas for all neutral vessels in both war and peace. The other would call for removal by Great Britain of her naval bases around the American continent.

The American delegation and others at the London party refused to take up the question of freedom of the seas.

McKellar said the naval base reservation would affect five or six British bases near the United States. Senator Reed paid tribute to the American naval officers, many of whom have opposed the treaty terms. He said the officers themselves were in disagreement on the needs of the navy and therefore the American delegation to London had to differ with some.

WOMAN WITNESS SAYS SHE HAS DEATH THREATS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Mrs. Alvie Judkins, young West Allis matron and former paid companion of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused in Los Angeles of the slaying of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, Tuesday said she had received notes threatening her life if she testified at Mrs. Oesterreich's trial next month.

She was in hiding to prevent any possible attempt against her life while authorities investigated the threats. Mrs. Judkins promised Assistant Prosecutor Costello of Los Angeles to tell her story.

Mrs. Judkins was paid by Oesterreich, she said, to stay with his wife when he left Milwaukee, his former home on business. She said Mrs. Oesterreich usually sent her away but recalled her before her husband returned.

PEAVEY AGAIN RUNS FOR CONGRESS SEAT

Washington—(AP)—Congressman Herbert H. Peavey, Progressive, announced today he is a candidate for reelection. He said more than 5,000 persons from the 14 counties making up the Eleventh congressional district had signed his nomination papers.

Legge Denies He "Got Hot" Over Kansas Wheat Outlook

Washington—(AP)—Alexander Legge has disclaimed in a letter to Governor Reed of Kansas, that he "got hot about something" at the recent meeting in Kansas in the farm board's campaign for wheat acreage production.

The letter, made public today at the board's offices, said some newspapers "seem to have the impression that Mr. Hyde and myself were asking the farmer to quit raising wheat in Kansas."

"You know how far that is from the fact," the suggestion being only to raise a little less of it and give the consumer a chance to catch up with producers," the board chairman wrote.

In view of the further facts and information that have been developed on this subject during recent months, I am hoping you will see that it may be clear to join us in this respect. In other words, we are asking a little cooperation from the grower who is the one who will receive the benefit from any improvement in the situation."

After the meeting at Dodge City, Kansas, Legge was quoted as having said:

"The biggest hog wall always lie in the trough. Kansas is now in the trough and it is up to the farmer to get out of it."

Legge had been telegraphed a request for his resignation from Max M. and Louis Leand, joint publishers of the Wichita, Kas., Beacon.

Von Hindenburg Refuses To Visit Prussian Cities If Vets' Group Is Banned

Berlin—(AP)—Venerable President von Hindenburg threw something akin to a political bombshell today when he notified the Prussian premier, Dr. Otto Braun, that he must decline to participate in the festivities planned at Coblenz, Treves, Aix-la-Chapelle and Wiesbaden in celebration of the liberation of German soil from foreign troops.

The president's refusal was based upon the fact that the Prussian government has not yet lifted the ban on the "Stahlhelm," an organization of former service men who participated in the war. President von Hindenburg is an honorary member of this organization.

The president explained that his consent to make a five day trip through the liberated Rhineland beginning next Friday was given on the assumption that the ban on the "Stahlhelm" would be lifted by that time, so that they might join in the festivities.

"The Prussian government," he said, "has, however, made the lifting of the ban subject to conditions from which I am compelled to conclude that these old front-line fighters will not be permitted to meet me in closed formations although this form of demonstration has been permitted to all other organizations. I am unable to agree to this prejudicial treatment of the 'Stahlhelm'."

While eliminating his visits to Prussian cities, the soldier president said he would stand by his acceptance of invitations to the Bavarian county of the Palatinate and its capital, Speyer, as well as to the Hessian city of Mayence.

Reverting to his refusal, the president continued:

"As one required by the constitution to stand above all parties, I cannot participate in festivities from which a section of the German population is excluded."

HOOVER VACATION TO BE IN ROCKIES

Will Leave Late in August or Early in September, Announcement Says

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover was said today at the White House to expect to spend at least two weeks in the northern Rocky mountains late in August or early in September. "Solely for purposes of an outdoor holiday and rest."

The following statement was made public:

"On May 9 press representatives were told that the president hoped to take a vacation holiday in the western national parks, beginning August 1."

"At that time it was anticipated that work of congress would be completed at a much earlier date than has now eventuated."

"The president will require some time in Washington to complete important matters after the adjournment of the present session. He expects, however, to be able to spend at least two weeks in the northern Rockies late in August or early September, solely for purposes of an outdoor holiday and rest."

"The president has received a very great number of cordial invitations to make public appearances and addresses in various cities enroute. The curtailment of the period when he may be away from Washington and the very nature of taking a holiday and rest will preclude acceptance of these invitations and he believes they will not be pressed."

HUNT FOR CHILDREN AS MAN'S BODY IS FOUND

Kenosha—(AP)—With the finding of a body believed that of Joseph Ocker, the mysterious disappearance of his three children today confronted Detroit and Kenosha police with a new problem.

Ocker was accused of shooting his wife and sister-in-law after the former instituted divorce proceedings in Detroit. He was reported headed for Kenosha with the children, and his wife followed him here to search for the children. She arrived but found them gone.

With the discovery of Ocker's body in the Detroit river, police are at a loss to account for the whereabouts of the children.

JUDGE GOSS RESIGNS OFFICE AT OSHKOSH

Oshkosh—(AP)—Judge A. H. Goss, 67, of the county municipal court, today forwarded his resignation to Governor Kohler. He announced he would leave the bench on which he has sat since the court was organized, 35 years ago, because of advanced age.

Judge Goss, one of the best known in the state, has held the office for six terms of six years, the present term expiring next year. He organized one of the first juvenile courts before the state law for such courts was passed. His resignation is effective Aug. 1.

CLEMENCY EXTENDED TO ROUNDOUT ROBBER

Washington—(AP)—The department of justice announced today that executive clemency had been extended James Murray, convicted of connection with the Roundout, Ill., robbery several years ago, reducing his sentence from 25 to 12 years.

The action was taken to make Murray eligible for parole. He was said to have helped the government investigation of the robbery and to have received a large amount of the stolen money.

Murray, who is confined in the Alcatraz penitentiary, has applied to the federal board for parole but the application has not been acted upon.

CLARENCE SAUNDERS IN BANKRUPTCY SUIT

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Clarence Saunders, who lost millions in 1929 and later organized his second national system of chain stores, was today to appear in federal court to defend against a petition for involuntary bankruptcy against one of his present chain.

Today's proceedings also asked a receivership for the unit, the Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., which operates 25 to 30 4th stores in the present Saunders chain. The Clarence Saunders Pacific corporation and the Clarence Saunders corporation, carriers of the royalty rights, are not involved in the suits.

AGED BROTHERS AND WIVES DIE IN CRASH

Marcellus, Mich.—(AP)—Two brothers, 65 and 73 years old, respectively, and their wives were killed here late yesterday as an automobile driven by the elder, Willis Chamberlin, was struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train. The other brother was the Rev. Alfred Chamberlin, former pastor of a Methodist church in Kalamazoo, Mich.

DAVIS' SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED BY PRESIDENT

Washington—(AP)—Replying to questions, President Hoover said today that no appointment of a successor to James J. Davis as secretary of labor was imminent. Mr. Davis, the president said expects to continue in office for some time and the selection of his successor is now somewhat "obscure."

WILD BATTLE STAGED AS 5 GUNMEN FLEE

Minnesota Citizens and Robbers Exchange About 50 Shots on Streets

LOOT MORE THAN $45,000

Two Residents Believe They Wounded Pair of Bandits Fleeing in Car

Willmar, Minn.—(AP)—Shooting down two women with machine gun and revolver fire, five bandits, in one of the most daring bank robberies in the northwest, held up the Bank of Willmar, a $3,000,000 institution, today, and escaped with loot estimated at between $15,000 and $50,000.

Branding revolvers and shouting threats of death, three bandits entered the bank about 10:30, leaving one of their number outside with a machine gun and the other at the wheel of the car. While the men outside kept a crowd of about 100 away from the bank, the bandits rifled the cash drawers and the vault.

"Lay down or we'll kill you!" commanded the leader as the trio entered the bank. "We mean business!"

George Robbins, vice president of the bank, was slow to comply with the command and one of the trio kicked him several times by way of after entering the bank, the robbers were on their way headed south to the accompaniment of cracking gunfire.

Sheriffs of nearly every county in Minnesota were warned to watch for the bandits and the alarm also was broadcast to Iowa and North Dakota. Two of the robbers were described as about 35 years old and the others about 33.

MANY WINDOWS BROKEN

About 50 shots were fired wildly from the bandits' car and the two women walking along the sidewalk were struck. Other bullets broke windows in parked automobiles and shattered glass in several buildings, but no other persons were believed to have been hit.

John Evans, an oil station employee, and R. S. Patfrath, armed with shotguns sped the bandits' retreat with several rounds each. Evans said the driver of the bandit car apparently was wounded as one of his companions pulled him from his seat and took his place. Patfrath also believed he wounded one of the robbers.

Neither of the women was seriously wounded, one Mrs. Emil Johnson, being shot in the arm and the leg and another, her 13-year-old daughter, Mrs. Don Glidia, wounded in the leg.

Two of the bandits were believed to have been wounded by a shotgun slugs poured into their car by aroused citizens as the gunmen dashed away from the bank building where they had herded 35 customers and employees into a huddle during the raid and held 100 more at bay outside the bank under menace of the machine gun.

ABANDON AUTOMOBILE

Minneapolis—(AP)—The automobile used by five bandits in robbing the Bank of Willmar of nearly $50,000 was discovered abandoned here shortly after noon today. The robbers sped away in another car bearing Ohio license C 17-81. Willmar is about 199 miles directly west of Minneapolis.

CO-OP EFFORT FAILS AMONG GRAPE GROWERS

Fresno, Calif.—(AP)—Failure today marked the initial efforts to organize California $400,000,000 grape industry into a federal farm board sponsored cooperative.

Attempts to sign up 85 per cent or 441,000 acres of vineyards failed by 3:00 p.m. on the basis of reports last midnight, when the campaign officially closed.

The campaign will be continued in the hope the government will carry out its financing program if the additional $5,000,000 can be signed before campaign returns are officially checked.

The farm board program calls for an advance of $20,000,000 to the industry and collection of $1.50 from the growers for each ton of fresh grapes produced, the money to be used in buying up and converting into by-products the $30,000,000 surplus expected this year.

GRAND RAPIDS MANAGER DENIES PART IN RACE

Grand Rapids, Mich.—(AP)—George W. Smith, city manager for Grand Rapids, today denied knowledge of petitions said to be circulating in Grand Haven in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. Previously he had announced he would swing what influence he has to Alex. J. Groesbeck.

Reports from Grand Haven were to the effect that he had authorized circulation of the petitions. He was lieutenant governor under former Governor Groesbeck.

Witnesses Tell Of Funds In M'Cormick Campaign

LUMBER MAN SAYS HE PAID OUT OWN CASH

West Parks Board President Volunteered Help Without Pay, He Claims

Chicago —(P)—W. D. Alexander, lumberman of Bloomington, Ill., the first surprise witness before the senatorial inquiry into Ruth Hanna McCormick's campaign, testified today that he spent $7,207.56 of his own funds in behalf of her campaign.

Alexander said he assumed direction of Mrs. McCormick's campaign in McLean because of his friendship for her, and not because of any request from her headquarters.

The witness said he had informally told Mrs. McCormick of his activities and his expenditures without submitting any report.

In her testimony yesterday Mrs. McCormick had named McLean as one of several in which her campaign had not cost anything, and the expenditure of $7,207.56 disclosed by the lumber man swelled the total expenditures in Mrs. McCormick's behalf to about $327,000.

The witness said he had volunteered his services and his funds, "in my own behalf," explaining his activities were of benefit to him in his community.

In response to a question by Senator Gerald Nye, committee chairman, Alexander said he might aspire to public office.

Mrs. McCormick appeared in the committee room while Mr. Alexander was on the stand, but did not exercise the privilege granted her to cross-examine witnesses.

JAMES VOLUNTEERED
W. R. James, president of the Chicago West parks board, who directed Mrs. McCormick's campaign in Chicago and Cook-co., said he volunteered to assist her and received no compensation for it. He denied he had solicited or received any contributions from her campaign.

He said he was not familiar with the political activities of the regular west park employees and did not know who they supported in the senatorial campaign.

PILOT RISKS HIS LIFE IN EFFORT TO WARN ENGINEER

Mal Freeburg, former resident of Milwaukee and former pilot on the Fox river valley branch of the Northwest Airways between Milwaukee and Green Bay, risked his life in a desperate effort to warn the engineer of the train carrying Bobby Jones to Chicago that a burning bridge lay ahead, it was revealed yesterday.

Freeburg, who was driving on the night mail route between St. Paul and Chicago, spotted a burning bridge over the Chippewa river near Trevelna, Wis., early Sunday morning.

To avoid what he believed would be a tragedy he left his course unswerving, low, and headed for the locomotive. It crossed the path of the train, flashing his hand lights to attract attention. The train stopped and Freeburg continued to Chicago.

The automatic block signals already had been set against the train but Freeburg didn't know that until later.

Conductor Parris said "we could not help but admire the pilot of that plane who went out of his way to do a good turn even at the risk of his own life, although the blocks had been set against us."

CONTRACTS LET BY ROAD COMMITTEE

County Group Buys Gasoline and Tires—To Build Two New Bridges

Contracts for tires, gasoline, building two bridges and hauling dirt filling to the county garage were let at a meeting of the county highway committee at the courthouse Monday afternoon.

The contract for a 10,000 gallon tank car of gasoline was let to the Deep Rock Oil company for 11 cents a gallon. This price includes the state tax.

Greunke Grading company of Appleton was awarded the contract for hauling 1,000 yards of dirt filling to the county garage. The bid was 30 cents for loading and 20 cents for hauling. There were three bids, the highest of which was 80 cents.

The contract to furnish 71 tires of various sizes was awarded to the Gibson Tire company. There were four bidders on this contract. This is the fifth year this firm has received this contract.

Earl Smith, route 2, West De Pere, was given the contract for the Joosten bridge, a town of Vandenberg. The bid was $64.50 per cubic yard of concrete at $14.90 per yard. There were six bidders on this job and the highest bid was $23 per yard. The contract for the Kempf bridge, town of Maple Creek, was given to the Wunderlich and Bleick Construction company, Appleton, for $12.84 per yard. The firm will furnish 150.7 yards of concrete. There were seven bids on this job, the highest being $22.65.

DETROIT AIR FIELD INTERNATIONAL PORT

Washington —(P)—The Wayne-co airport at Detroit today was designated as an international port of entry for aircraft.

At the same time the treasury department canceled similar designations for Newark, N. J., and Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Assistant Secretary Lowman said not a single international craft had cleared from the Newark airport and only a minor number from St. Paul and Minneapolis. He added aviators preferred air fields on the boundary Grand Forks, N. D., in the west being a favorite and East Watertown, Malone and Plattsburg, N. Y., in the east.

At the same time the treasury department canceled similar designations for Newark, N. J., and Minneapolis and St. Paul.

BOY SCOUTS DOWN CLUB IN SOFTBALL

Lions Enjoy Outing at Valley Council Camp Monday Afternoon

Although tracking is part of a Boy Scouts training it was the Lions who tried the Scouts in a tail game at Camp Chippewa last evening in the concluding event of the visit of the Lions club at the Valley council camp.

About 50 folks, Lions and their families accepted the invitation of the Boy Scout camp to have dinner with them last night. Many went out in the afternoon, enjoying the scouting activity and swimming. At 6:30 a dinner was served by the regular camp staff and Scouts and Lions adjourned to the campfire where the Scouts entertained with their camp songs.

It was then that the Scouts challenged the business men to a ball game, and in a few minutes before darkness had shown signs to maintain a good lead.

REPORT SUFFERING IN LABOR UNIONS THROUGHOUT STATE

Unemployment Situation Still Critical, Federation Report Says

La Crosse —(P)—Suffering among members of Wisconsin labor unions, due to the unemployment situation, was noted in the annual report of the executive board, read before the Wisconsin Federation of Labor convention today.

The "tragic state" of unemployment "has not abated appreciably," the report said, adding that "all groups, with very few exceptions have suffered. At some time or other, unemployment has reached as high as 75 per cent for all groups."

The value of an increase in public works was questioned as being of only "slight relief," as operations thus supplied must later be subtracted from future activities.

An unemployment compensation law was advocated as not only securing to unemployed workers a living, but also imposing on employers some responsibility.

"Daylight saving," as now practiced by mutual consent of employers in Milwaukee, was vigorously criticized as "silly," "insidious," and "repugnant." Likewise, it was declared a dishonest substitute for a shorter work day.

Taking cognizance of recent consolidations by railroad, reducing the number of their shops and roundhouses in the state, the board expressed its favor of three alternative proposals:

1. Procure the adoption of a rule by the interstate commerce commission to the effect that no permit will be granted a railroad to abolish or close down a railroad shop or terminal unless adequate compensation is made to railroad employees for loss in value of property sustained through abandonment or closing down of shop or terminal.

2. Procure the adoption of legislation, state and federal, to the effect that no railroad shall be permitted to abandon or close down a terminal or shop unless adequate compensation is made to railroad employees for loss in value of property sustained through abandonment or closing down of shop or terminal.

3. The commencement of one lawsuit by a number of employees to recover for a loss in the value of property caused by the closing down of a terminal or shop on the theory of implied contract between the railroad and the employees.

Chains came in for mention, the board saying: "If we felt insecure when many individual banks abetted the dastardly attempt to crush labor in material possessions and spirit, what can labor's anticipations be under the roof of the chain? We frankly express grave concern with the trend and we see in the chain scheme the most potent machinery to effect an absolute dictatorship over labor."

"We are well aware that denial is made of such intent, but we are not deceived into believing that those who perpetrated a nationwide assault upon the working class of this country with a less efficient machine will forego that federal desire when armed with the most powerful weapon that can be devised."

25 Hours In A Day?
It's a fact, we can increase the length of your days to 25 hours. When you take your shopping bags and go on a food buying tour, the best part of an hour is wasted. Yes wasted—for if you will step to your order at SCHEIL'S, you will receive just as select foods as you could choose in person, and the cost will be no more. If it is true that an hour saved is an hour earned—then we can make your days 25 hours long.

SHANNON TO SEEK CLERK JOB AGAIN

Clerk of Courts to Be Candidate for Republican Nomination

Sydney M. Shannon, clerk of courts announced Tuesday that he would be a candidate for reelection to the office of clerk of courts.

Mr. Shannon has held the office for which he is a candidate since June 1, 1928, when he was appointed to succeed his father, Harry A. Shannon. The elder Mr. Shannon held the office for many years and during that time his son served as deputy clerk of courts. Following Mr. Shannon's resignation his son was appointed by Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner to fill the unexpired term.

At that time Mr. Shannon was the youngest clerk of courts in the state. In the fall elections of 1928 Mr. Shannon was nominated and elected to office by the largest majority ever given a candidate in Outagamie-co. He was elected against opposition. This will be his second race for the office. He is seeking the Republican nomination at primaries in September.

Mr. Shannon received his nomination papers this week from John E. Hantschel, county clerk, and they were placed in circulation at once. The last day for filing papers is Aug. 6.

"We are well aware that denial is made of such intent, but we are not deceived into believing that those who perpetrated a nationwide assault upon the working class of this country with a less efficient machine will forego that federal desire when armed with the most powerful weapon that can be devised."

Lord Werenberg has returned to Milwaukee after a visit with relatives in this city.

Mrs. Hoover Brighter As Injuries Start To Mend

Washington —(P)—For Mrs. Herbert Hoover, at her Rapidan camp recuperating from a wrenched back, long summer days are lightened and brightened.

The little coterie of women who have functioned under her direction since her arrival in the White House now makes it possible for her to "carry on" in spite of slowly mending ligaments.

They shuttle between camp and city, doing her shopping, greeting her guests, carrying out her behests. Only last summer Mrs. Hoover was among the hardest-riding on the bridge trails. Now her secretaries and guest assistants cooperate to prevent her finding enforced inaction too irksome.

There have been some changes in the group. Miss Mary Randolph, official social secretary, the only one employed and salaried by the government, resigned at the close of the social season. Since summer has no formal social duties, her place will not be filled at this time.

The rest of the group has the Hoover background, and form a working organization rather unusual in White House annals. Mrs. Hoover, with her varied duties as president's wife, her many interests as an individual is the guiding spirit.

From the Hoover "S" street house came Miss Wildred Hall and Miss Ruth Fessler, private secretaries, and Mrs. E. G. Bowman, closely associated with Mrs. Hoover in her Girl Scout activities.

The intricacies of the daily schedule, the incessant telephone calls, the official duties have fallen to Miss Hall, brown-haired and brown-eyed.

Miss Fessler, a blonde, tall and patrician, appears more often in a semi-public capacity. She frequently extends first greetings when Mrs. Hoover is occupied, and takes charge of multitudinous gifts.

Miss Helen Greene of Rochester, Minn., who is to fill in for the two secretaries on vacation, was a student at Leland Stanford and a friend of the family in Palo Alto.

CITY OFFICIALS SEE STATE COMMISSIONERS
Mayor John Goodland, Jr., C. D. Thompson, and Chief George McGilligan have returned from Madison, where they spent Monday conferring with the tax and industrial commissions.

Mayor Goodland, who advised a reassessment of Appleton in his inaugural speech, was urged by the tax commission to have the work done immediately. However, because of depressed business conditions and unemployment, the mayor feels it advisable to wait until next year.

COUNTY TO HONOR EBEN REXFORD AT SHIOCTON SERVICE

Dedicate Memorial Tomorrow to Author of "Silver Threads Among the Gold"

Two college presidents will be speakers at the dedication of the memorial to Eben E. Rexford on the lawn of the Congregational church at Shiocton Wednesday afternoon. They are: Dr. Silas Evans of Ripon college and Dr. J. H. Ames, president of the State Teachers' college at River Falls.

Other speakers will include the Rev. F. M. Dexter, Union Grove, who was pastor of the church when it was built and with whom Rexford worked for many years as a member of the church; the Rev. Philo Hitchcock, River Falls, who will read the Invocation and the Benediction; and C. W. Greenfield, a Chicago attorney and a boyhood chum of Rexford's.

The dedication of the memorial and the program has been arranged by

START AT 1:45
The Rexford Memorial committee announced today that people planning to attend the dedication of Rexford's memorial. Members of this committee include: Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college; A. G. Meating, C. C. Nelson, W. E. Smith, Appleton; W. A. Olen, Clintonville; W. H. Hatten, New London; George Lonkey, Shiocton; and H. K. Dertus, Kaukauna.

Mr. Hatten will be chairman of the program at Shiocton and will briefly discuss the committee's purpose and aims.

Luncheon clubs, fraternal and other organizations from five counties—Brown, Waupaca, Outagamie, Winnebago and Shawano, have been invited by the committee to cooperate in getting a crowd at the dedication ceremonies.

EXPECT 1,000 PEOPLE
The committee and the village of Shiocton are planning to welcome more than 1,000 people in the village for the dedication ceremonies. Pioneers from all over the state are expected to gather at Shiocton for the day. Invitations sent out by the committee ask old-timers to come to Shiocton early and stay all day. They are asked to bring a basket lunch and spend the day at Hamlin park where they can renew acquaintances with other old timers.

Eben E. Rexford, the author of "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and many other poems, essays and stories, spent the greater portion of his life in Shiocton, where he died, Oct. 16, 1916. He was born in Johnsbury, N. Y., on July 16, 1848, and came to Shiocton in 1853. The dedication ceremony is being held on the date of Rexford's birth.

The memorial consists of a large granite boulder on which is being imbedded a bronze tablet bearing the following inscription:
"Eben E. Rexford. Author—Silver Threads Among the Gold. Born Johnsbury, New York, July 16, 1848. Located in this vicinity in 1853. Died Shiocton, Oct. 16, 1916. 'To everyone God gives a Share of Work To Do Sometime, Somewhere.'"

The last quotation is taken from one of Rexford's poems.

BAND TO PLAY
The Appleton high school band, under the direction of E. C. Moore, will open the program with a band concert. Other musical numbers will include a tenor solo by George Nixon, Appleton, who will sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold," accompanied by the band.

During the unveiling of the memorial the audience will sing the same song, led by Mr. Nixon and accompanied by the band. The unveiling will be done by Frank Spencer, grandson of Mrs. Olive Spencer, 210 S. Rankin st. Mrs. Spencer was a niece of Rexford's.

Any car owner, who will be able to assist in transporting the high school band to the memorial meeting has been requested to call Erik Nielsen. It will be necessary to start about 12:30 that the band may be at Shiocton at 1:45, according to Mr. Nielsen. Instruments will be taken out by truck.

Country About Crandon Sportsmen's Paradise

BY B. A. CLAPLIN

In this article permit me to speak of a region which might well be termed a sportsmen's paradise. I refer to the country about Crandon. Its lakes and streams contain practically every kind of game fishes. They range from the landlocked salmon, ciscoes and whitefish down to the humble perch and bluegills. Bass, wall-eyes, pike and pickerel are common.

Until I personally visited this region I had a rather vague idea of its possibilities. It is not advertised as are many other parts of our state where the fishing is nowhere as good. Stone lake, or in the language of the Chippewas, Assinagong, lies close to Crandon, in Forest co. It is five miles long and about a mile wide; its southern end is dotted with pine-covered islands around which the water is very deep and cold.

Small mouth bass predominate, with northern pike, salmon, trout and whitefish abundant. On account of the water being so cold the bass do not finish spawning until the latter part of June to the middle of July. For that reason, the last two weeks of July and the balance of the open season find them ready for almost any kind of lure. What is, perhaps, somewhat unusual is the fact that around the lily beds the small mouth bass will take artificial flies equally as well as around the rocky shores of the islands. Five to six pounders are not at all uncommon.

The pike and salmon run up to from twenty to thirty pounds in weight. The trout are taken by deep trolling, and no fine fish exists from an epicurean standpoint.

Another nice feature of this lake is that it is surrounded by virgin pine and hardwood. Owing to the beauty of its natural environments it is often referred to as the "Lake Champlain of the West." There is a resort with fine accommodations, and also cottages which may be rented from private owners at Crandon.

In addition to the wonderful fishing Stone Lake has to offer, we must not forget that in this vicinity are the headwaters of the Brule, Peshigo, Pine, Popple, Wolf, Oconto, Rat, Lily, Alvor, Jones, McDonald, Otter, Nine Mile, Riley and Indian waters. What other region can boast of such an array of streams? Brook trout up to six pounds and rainbows up to ten have been taken from these streams. As a rule, in these waters the bottoms are gravelly, and they are wide enough to permit the use of plenty of line, therefore the fly fisherman will appreciate what is in store for them.

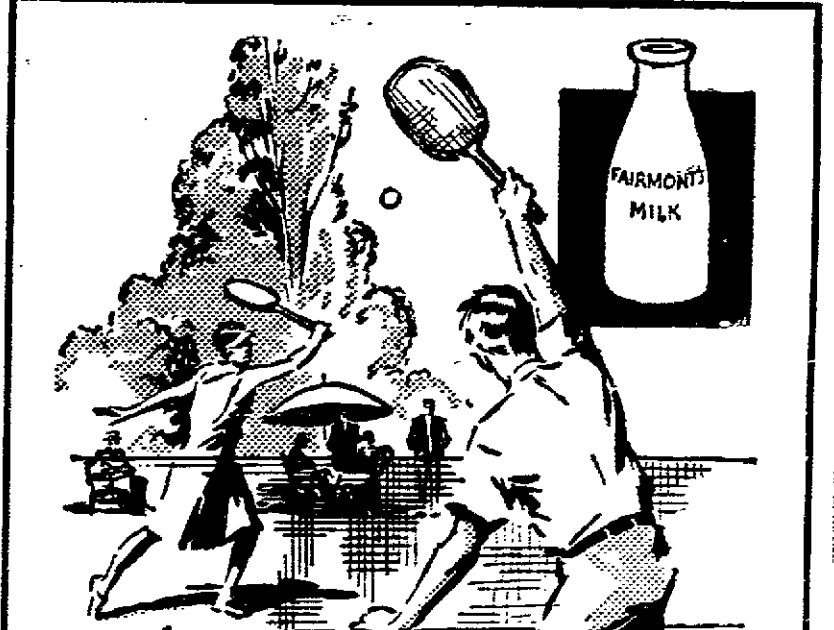

Deer and small game are plentiful, for the state maintains a 46,000 acre game refuge there which propagates for the surrounding country. At all hours of the day deer can be seen in or near this refuge. Fishing is allowed in it but no hunting.

KAUKAUNA MAN FINED FOR WINDOW-PEEPING

Joseph Jacobs, Kaukauna, was fined $25 and costs in police court at Green Bay Monday when the justice found him guilty of window peeping. Jacobs was arrested about 1 o'clock Monday morning by Green Bay police and he explained that he had "come to ask them if they lost a pocketbook I found." The judge didn't believe his story.

Chester DeNoble, Appleton, paid a fine of $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested Sunday by Green Bay police.

There are cabins on the streams mentioned above which can be rented, and equipment of every kind can be procured at Crandon or Laona. Here, also guides, canoes and even saddle horses are available.

LEGION WILL BOOST CITY AT CONVENTION

Appleton Organization Won Pendill Trophy at Gathering Last Year

The Oney Johnston post of the American Legion plans to be an Appleton boosting delegation at the state department convention in Sheboygan Aug. 18, 19 and 20, according to post officials.

Last year the Appleton organization won the Pendill trophy, for the most outstanding community service, and by virtue of that distinction was made the leader of the department parade. Since the convention is nearby this year, post officers forecast a large attendance, especially for the second day, when the parade occurs.

Plans have been made to take the Appleton high school band as an Appleton unit in the parade, and there is a possibility that the very attractive float used by the Legion in the July 4 parade also will be taken. Delegates elected to attend are: Les Smith, H. H. Helble, Clarence Baetz, A. C. Bossert, Erik Madson, A. A. Sparling, Harold Miller, A. E. Scheurle and Carl Becker. Alternate delegates include A. H. Banks.

CHILDREN START FIRE WITH MATCHES

The fire department was called to a residence owned by Paul Sell, 215 N. Morrison st. late Monday morning when the building was set afire by children playing with matches. The blaze was put out by people in the house before the department arrived and before serious damage resulted.

Iola Laboring Man Shoots And Hangs Self In Shed

FIND BODY OF LOUIS NELSON THIS MORNING

Leaves Note to County Officials Telling Location of $2,000

Making sure that he would not fail in his attempt to take his own life, Louis Nelson, about 65 years old, shot and hanged himself between 4 and 5 o'clock Tuesday morning in a shed in the rear of the McKay rooming house at Iola, Waukegan. The body was found shortly after 5 o'clock by Mr. McKay, who immediately notified Sheriff Arthur Steenbach. Following an investigation by the sheriff, he announced that no inquest would be held.

Several notes, addressed both to Sheriff Steenbach and James O. Hanson, under-sheriff, were found in Nelson's clothes. One of the notes, written to the under-sheriff, described the location of a cache of approximately $2,000 buried in the McKay yard and instructed the officer to procure the money.

Other notes instructed the officers about the disposition of Nelson's tools and other personal property. Nelson was a day laborer.

Doubt as to the size of the cache and even of its existence was expressed by the sheriff. They intend to follow the directions left them, however.

That Nelson did not intend to fall in his suicide plans was indicated by the careful manner in which he made preparations for the deed. After tying a noose in a rope and putting it around his neck, he stood in such a position that after he had shot himself with a small rifle, his body fell forward, tightening the noose.

Although nobody heard the shot, Mrs. McKay had heard Nelson leave the rooming house about 4 o'clock this morning.

He apparently was in good health and no reason could be ascribed for the act.

Nelson, who was born in Norway, had come to Iola about 20 years ago. He had lived at the rooming house for the last six or seven years.

Unmarried, he leaves no known relatives, although several acquaintances are of the opinion that a sister of his is living in the west. No one was sure of this, however, and even those who harbored this opinion did not have any idea what her address might be.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETINGS IN COUNTY

Elect Officers, Appropriate Funds, and Vote on Music Program

Rural school districts of Outagamie held their annual meetings Monday evening at the school houses in compliance with the state law requiring that meetings be held on that date.

Schools elected officers whose terms expired, appropriated funds for operation during the next year, made arrangements for necessary improvements and voted on the rural school music plan.

The Badger school district, town of Grand Chute, voted to enter the music program again. Henry Kruceberg was elected president of the district and Joseph Utschig was elected director. The school appropriated $1,500 for expenses next year. The treasurer's report shows that the school's indebtedness of $750 was wiped out last year.

Walter Techlin was reelected director of the Valley View school, town of Center. He was the only officer whose term expired. The school appropriated $800 for expenses during the next year and also voted to install electric lights in the school. The school voted the music program down.

The music program was voted down by the Woodlawn school, town of Grand Chute. This school appropriated $1,500 for operating expenses next year and reelected Fred Bohl as treasurer. Mr. Bohl was the only officer whose term expired.

NEW MOTOR LINES ARE APPROVED IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—Applications of five motor transportation companies to operate on new lines in the state were approved yesterday by the state railroad commission.

The Fort Transportation Co., of Fort Atkinson, was granted a certificate to operate freight trucks between Fort Atkinson, Edgerton and Stoughton.

A certificate was granted the Yellow Truck Lines to operate between Baraboo and Ableson, North Freedom and Reedsburg, Baraboo and Kibbourn.

The Fox Bus Co., of LaCrosse, was granted a certificate to operate buses between LaCrosse and Hillsboro, and the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. was given the certificate of the Michigan Power Co., to operate passenger buses between Fond du Lac and Green Bay.

A. Pilch was authorized to operate an auto freight line between Athens and Pleasant Plains by way of Union, Spencer, Colby, Abbotsford, Rochester, Milan and Corinth. The commission denied the application of Pearly Stenslien, LaCrosse, for permission to operate a line between Westby and LaCrosse. The commission said this territory had ample transportation facilities.

IDEAL WEATHER TO CONTINUE WEDNESDAY

Ideal weather conditions are forecast for this vicinity for the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman.

Skies will be clear tonight and the mercury is due for another rise, the weather man says. Skies may be slightly cloudy and weather conditions unsettled by Wednesday afternoon.

Winds are shifting in the south-southwest and a good indication that the weather will continue. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 84 degrees above zero while at noon it registered 74 degrees.

FILM ACTRESS ACCUSED OF DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Los Angeles—(AP)—Evelyn Fagen, youthful film actress, was at liberty today on her own recognizance, facing preliminary hearing July 24 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Miss Fagen was arrested yesterday on a principal street in the film colony, clad only in a bathrobe. Police said Miss Fagen told them she was en route home from the beach and had drunk carloads of liquor.

REPRESENTATIVE OF POPE PIUS XI IS GUEST IN APPLETON

Apostolic Delegate to United States Here to Inspect Diocese

The Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, titular archbishop of Ilocos and Apostolic Delegate representing Pope Pius XI in the United States, arrived in Appleton last evening to spend a few days here as the guest of Bishop Paul P. Rhode of Green Bay. The archbishop is at St. Elizabeth hospital with his secretary, the Rev. Father Daley.

As the pope's personal representative in the United States, the archbishop is visiting the various Catholic dioceses in the country to become familiar with their educational and institutional work.

The archbishop was born in Rome in 1872 and before his appointment as Apostolic Delegate to the United States in 1922, was the Apostolic Delegate to the East Indies and to Japan. He was the first personal representative of the pope in the latter kingdom. At the time of his appointment to the United States he was secretary of the Congregation of the Propaganda which has charge of the work of the church in mission fields.

UNCOVER INSURANCE PLOT IN NEW YORK

New York—(AP)—An insurance executive who observed a supposedly dead man hurrying on his way to work started an investigation that has disclosed a million dollar conspiracy.

Recalled that he recently saw John McCoy's death certificate, the executive inquired about it. It was all news to McCoy.

The insurance man told District Attorney Egan, of Richmond, who soon discovered 39 other persons on whose supposed deaths the Metropolitan Insurance company had paid death benefits ranging from $432 to $2,500. Two employees of the company were arrested charged with falsifying records. None of the persons whose death claims had been paid were aware of it.

The district attorney estimated that insurance companies had been defrauded of millions of dollars on false death claims throughout the city.

He said each claim involved the theft or counterfeiting of an official death certificate blank and the health department seal, and forgery of the names of the doctor, undertaker, cemetery officer, health department clerk, witnesses and beneficiaries.

Start Asparagus Bed At This Time By Sowing Seed

Tender helpings of asparagus now inspire many a gardener to thoughts of starting an asparagus bed for himself. At this season the only way to get a start is by sowing seed. Seeding asparagus plants are popping up here and there in localities where asparagus is grown from seed carried by the birds. Some gardeners start beds by digging up these volunteer plants and moving them into regular quarters in the garden.

It would be far better to buy a packet of seed of some pedigreed asparagus and start a bed of asparagus of known first quality rather than to depend on wildlings which may or may not produce good stalks, probably the latter. The seed started now will give a multitude of little plants that may be transplanted this fall into the regular bed and in two years will start bearing.

Asparagus seed should be soaked overnight before planting. It should then be sown in rows at least half an inch deep. It will be slow to come up but eventually will appear in the course of a month and a row of asparagus plants for a home asparagus bed will be in the making. The seed method produces asparagus plants in quantity.

It is much quicker to buy the young plant from a seed house this fall and set out the bed with plants that have been well grown and have complete root systems to start with. This will give you a bed in two seasons. Two year old roots are the most practical and take hold better and give good crops sooner than digging mature clumps.

Seedlings, if transplanted before they make too large a root system so that they can be moved without breaking the roots, take hold quickly. Many gardeners have excellent success with home grown seedlings. It is an easy experiment to try and now is the time to plant the seed. Buy some of the pedigreed strains. Do not trust to volunteer plants.

START NEW OFFENSIVE ON CHINESE RAIL FRONT

Shanghai—(AP)—The launching of a heavy offensive on the Haichow-Tungkuang railway front by the Northern Alliance rebels was reported today in Japanese advices from Honan province.

Nationalist troops, reports said, were forced to abandon front line positions there and withdraw to secondary positions as the Northerners continued their attack.

Renewal of fighting in Honan came after a lull occasioned by Nationalist military activity centering in southern Shantung. Troops were withdrawn from the Haichow-Tungkuang front recently by the government in its effort to retake Shantung.

Direct efforts to cut off one of the Nationalist's money supplies was made by Northern Alliance spokesmen at Peiping today when they warned local Chinese bankers here not to make loans to Chiang-Kai-Shek, head of the Nationalist government. Northern spokesmen said such loans would be criminal acts, punishable by the Peiping Alliance.

Nanking—(AP)—Nationalist leaders Tuesday were little concerned over the secessionist conference in Peiping of an appreciable portion of the Kuomintang's (people's party) central executive committee, seeking to set up a separate government in the Northern metropolis.

Local Nationalists said the disgruntled Peiping leaders likely would succeed in forming a government opposed to Nanking but the new movement would prove short-lived. They believed Nanking's relatively better financial position would prevent the Northern move from embarrassing the Nationalists.

The Kuomintang once wholeheartedly supported the Nationalists. The Peiping conference is an outgrowth of the refusal of a minority of its central executive committee members to accept committee decisions during the last two years concerning government policies.

CHARGE KAW MAN WITH THEFT OF TYPEWRITER

Hugh Bart, Kaukauna, was arrested in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Tuesday morning on charges of larceny. He was arrested at Kaukauna Tuesday on complaint of Miss Martha Jacobson, who charges he stole a typewriter valued at $45. Preliminary hearing of the case was set for Friday and Bart furnished $250 bonds.

DRUNK IS SENT TO JAIL FOR FIVE DAYS

William Baugh, 1419 W. Fourth-st., who failed to appear in court Friday afternoon to answer a charge of drunkenness, was sent to the county jail for five days when he appeared in court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Monday afternoon and paid $500 bond. He was unable to pay a fine of $10. Baugh was arrested early Friday morning and when he appeared in court later in the morning he was unable to say whether he was guilty or not. The judge told him to come back in the afternoon to enter his plea and he failed to do so.

REV. CRESCENTIAN NAMED PASTOR OF ST. JOSEPH CHURCH

Guardian of Monastery to Succeed Rev. Pacificus Raith, Office Reveals

The Rev. Father Crescentian has been retained as guardian of the Capuchin monastery, and has been appointed pastor of St. Joseph church, to succeed the Rev. Pacificus Raith, pastor for the past six years. Father Raith will become guardian of the monastery at Marathon. The changes were effected at the meeting of the Chapter of the Province at Detroit Mich., last week, and announced from the parish office Monday.

The Rev. Father Bernadine, who has served as assistant at the Capuchin monastery here for several months, has been transferred to the monastery at Huntington, Ind., for a vacation. Brother Michael, now over 80 years old, will go to Calvary. Brother Michael has been at the monastery here for 31 years.

The Rev. William Peters, pastor of St. Elizabeth parish, Milwaukee, has been transferred to Appleton, as has the Rev. Father Stephen, prefect at Calvary. The latter will become assistant, succeeding the Rev. Father Bernadine.

The Rev. Basil Gummerrmann, formerly stationed at Appleton, has been transferred from St. Elizabeth parish, Milwaukee to become vicar of St. Francis monastery. The Rev. Josephat Muesig, formerly of Appleton, will go to New York.

WISCONSIN'S LABOR OUTLOOK HELD "ACUTE"

La Crosse—(AP)—Characterizing the Wisconsin unemployment situation as "acute," J. J. Handley, secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, today said a program seeking legislative relief from unemployment would be presented to the federation for discussion. The federation opens a four-day meeting here Tuesday.

"Census figures show that 18,000 persons are out of work in Milwaukee alone," he said. "In my opinion, one out of every four and a half workers in the city are unemployed."

"The situation has grown more acute since April. There seems no relief in sight. Every indication is that conditions will be worse next winter. The problem of providing for the jobless will be the principal consideration of the convention," he said.

Y. M. C. A. COMMITTEE MEETS THIS EVENING

The special committee of the Y. M. C. A. empowered to interview candidates for the position of physical director will meet tonight with F. H. Mumm, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. at Fargo N. D. The committee met with W. S. Ryan, associate director of the Y. M. C. A. in Chicago, last week. The probable choice will be between these two men, it was intimated.

The committee is composed of J. G. Rosebush, A. C. Reimley, T. E. Olson, and George Werner, general secretary of the organization. Mr. Werner returned from the summer school which he is attending at Lake Geneva, for the meeting. There he is studying the problems of membership, with membership secretaries and general secretaries from middle western institutions.

3 CHILDREN DIE FROM PTOMAIN POISONING

Newton, N. J.—(AP)—Three children were dead and three other persons seriously ill Tuesday from what the family physician believes to be ptomaine poisoning.

The dead, the children of Wilbur Stanton, prosperous LaFayette farmer, are Elizabeth, 13; Fanny, 12, and Alice, 4.

A foster son, William Cortwright, 2, is not expected to recover, and Stanton also is believed near death, but hope is held for the recovery of Mrs. Stanton.

Investigation of the weekend diet of the family showed they had eaten preserved meat and ice cream. The family was stricken last night after dinner. The three children died today.

EXPECT COURT ACTION IN OKLAHOMA RIOTING

Sayre, Okla.—(AP)—M. L. Inman, acting sheriff, after conference with H. C. Ivester, county attorney, announced this morning that the names of those who took principal parts in the race rioting at Erick, Okla., during the weekend are known and charges probably will be filed.

The situation at Erick was believed to be under control last night. Nevertheless, Negroes, fearing violence, asked to be permitted to spend the night behind the bars of the county jail.

A general exodus of colored people from Erick was made when several hundred white men, inflamed by reports of the killing Friday of a former Erick woman by a Negro at nearby Shamrock, Tex., stormed through the Negro sector, destroying property and threatened their lives if they did not get out of town.

CHARGE IOLA MAN DROVE RECKLESSLY

Frank J. Rott, Sr., Iola, was arrested Sunday on Highway 54 in the town of Ellington on charges of reckless driving. He was picked up by Officer Charles Steidl. Rott is to appear in court later to answer charges.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Four marriage licenses were issued Tuesday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. They were given to the following couples: Joseph Baughman and Marie Derrus, Appleton; Joseph Van Camp, route 1, Kaukauna; and Odella Garvey, route 1, Little Chute; John H. Johnson, Appleton; and Lucina Hartjes, Little Chute; James M. Sayers, route 1, Shiocton; and Alvina Elert, route 4, Clintonville.

Plans Paris Hop

W. S. MacLaren of Newark, N. J., will attempt to better the record of Colonel Lindbergh in a solo flight across the Atlantic from Newark to Paris.

A fugitive wanted for the arrest of Arnold Derkes, Little Chute, who is in New London County hospital recovering from bullet wounds received in a fight with Robert Merkle, federal prohibition officer last Friday night during the raid on the $20,000 alcohol plant on the old Ziebell farm near New London, was issued by Commissioner Jenkins Tuesday morning. It was expected the warrant would be served at the hospital Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning.

When the injured man is arraigned with the other three, $1,000 bail will be asked, Commissioner Jenkins stated.

FLIER NEAR DEATH AFTER PLANE CRASH

In covering the four mile stretch to the hospital. There awaiting the arrival of the youth was his stepmother, Mrs. Bryce Goldsborough.

Dr. John Trotter, the first surgeon who examined Goldsborough, reported a fractured skull as the youth's only major injury, but said that this with his long period of exposure and lack of attendance, was sufficient to make his condition most critical.

TELLS ABOUT CRASH

Mackler described the crash and his attempts to free Goldsborough to a rescue party.

"Fifteen minutes after taking off from Schenectady, N. Y., after flying over Buffalo," he said, "we ran into bad fog. Soon we knew we were where the Green Mountains but not where Goldsborough put the ship into a dive to get below the fog."

"Suddenly a tree loomed ahead and the first thing I saw was Goldsborough turning off the switch. When I came to I saw the tail and part of a wing of the plane hanging in the tree."

"Parts of the wreckage covered Goldsborough, over his head, chest and feet. I pulled it off his head and chest but his feet were caught in the controls and he was unconscious. I finally left him to try to get to a house to find aid. I tried to free him for an hour."

"He was breathing regularly and his pulse was regular, although still unconscious. He was warmly dressed and the weather wasn't cold."

"The crash was near the edge of a swamp and within half an hour I reached a waterfall and after long wandering down the stream came to a farmhouse."

When Leonard Lawrence, a stage driver and a member of one of the parties came upon the airplane Goldsborough was lying clear of it, the wreckage apparently having shifted during the night. His teeth had been knocked out and he was cut about the head and chest. One hand firmly grasped the cord ring of his parachute.

Goldsborough is the son of Bryce Goldsborough, who lost his life in the Dawn, Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane, which disappeared in the North Atlantic in December, 1927, on the start of the attempted trans-Atlantic flight.

FILM COLONY AT BEACH AWAITING REX LEASE TRIAL

Friends Forward Frantic Hints for Invitations to Spend Weekend There

By JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Malibu Beach, Calif. —(CPA)—Members of the film colony with cottages at Malibu beach are receiving frantic hints from friends for invitations over the 21st. This is the tentative date set for the trial of Rex Lease, accused of beating Vivian Duncan. Justice John L. Webster, who represents the law in a small cottage here, says a jury trial would take up so much space that he would probably hold it on the beach, with box lunches.

Always an interesting spot, it is only because film celebrities have weekend places within its precincts, Malibu at present holds the undivided attention of the movie colony because of the Vivian Duncan altercation with Rex Lease, which resulted in Miss Duncan's retirement to a hospital. Mr. Lease's arraignment on a battery charge, threats by N.S. Asther, Vivian's fiancé, to kill Mr. Lease in the street, and a matter of pleasurable anticipation among the Hollywood contingent.

Guests are flocking to Malibu to hear the neighborhood showdown on the affair.

HOMES NEAR TOGETHER

It is difficult to keep the neighbors out of any altercation at Malibu. Not only is the film colony one great big family anyway, as is evidenced by the black eyes blooming every now and then among it, but despite 39 miles of empty beach on which to build their weekend homes the flicker stars have built them so close together for the most part that you can toss a repartee or a pop shot from one dining room to another. Opinions differ as to why the fantastic gables are huddled so close together. Some say it's for protection, others say it's in order not to miss anything.

Malibu, a splendid stretch of sand with a background of hills, a foreground of Pacific and a state road running just behind remarkable rear fences, has one general store which until recently contained the only telephone in the locality. Due to the march of civilization and the wrath of directors unable to locate stars at a moment's notice, additional telephones are creeping in. Formerly it took so long to reach the telephone and call the police that by the time this had been done the cause of the quarrel had often been forgotten.

Originally the Malibu district was held by a Spaniard on a local grant. It was transferred by a descendant in payment of a grocery bill. The district belongs now to Mrs. May Kinde, a wealthy Californian, from whom as a rule the film cottagers lease the land, though they build and own their houses. In spite of state roads and telephones most of the area remains the playground (sometimes the battleground) of the temperamental stars. It is essentially a flicker preserve from which the public has been rigidly excluded and in which practically anything might happen and occasionally does.

3 COUNTIES TO QUIT DRAINAGE DISTRICTS

Stevens Point—(CP)—Dissolution of drainage districts involving land in Jackson, Juneau and Wood counties soon be effected, ending years of court controversies, those interested in the district affairs announced Monday. The decision followed an order Saturday by Circuit Judge B. E. Park terminating the district organizations.

The district commissioners are given until July 19 to file with the counties lists of lands affected and owners have until Aug. 25 to file objections. Hearings will be held Sept. 2. A total of 55,000 acres is involved.

RUSSIA ATTEMPTING TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

Moscow —(CP)—All the resources of Soviet Russia will be mobilized to increase the industrial, agricultural, mining, and chemical productivity of the country and to decrease the cost of production. If resolutions passed by the Sixteenth congress of the Russian Communist party at its closing sessions are carried out.

These resolutions direct all party organs and the government institutions to cooperate for the nation's weal.

The iron and steel output, according to these resolutions, is to be increased that by 1932 it will reach 17,000,000 tons annually.

The development of machine building is to be greatly expanded in order to make the country less dependent upon imported machinery.

Russia's death of fuel is to be remedied by expanding the coal industry and enforcing the utmost economy in fuel consumption. An increase in the output of tractors and other agricultural machinery is to quicken the pace of agricultural development.

NEW WATER PUMPAGE RECORD IS SET AT CITY FILTER PLANT

The daily high pumpage record at the city pumping station and filtration plant again has been broken, according to A. J. Hall, plant superintendent. A new record was set last Thursday when 2,400,000 gallons were pumped, but Saturday that figure was greatly exceeded, the pumpage for the day being 2,670,000 gallons.

Unlike many cities in the state where there is impending danger of a water shortage, the local plant has little trouble in meeting the consumption and would be able to furnish three times as much water as the Saturday demand should the occasion arise, according to Mr. Hall.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS HEAR NATIONAL REPORT

A report on the national chamber of commerce attitude toward limitation of naval armament, was read at the monthly meeting of chamber of commerce directors at Hotel Northern Friday afternoon. Inasmuch as the national chamber is wholly in sympathy with an international peace program it has gone on record as favoring the limitation bill, according to David Smith, who submitted the report.

A report on the chamber budget for the first quarter, April 1 to July 1, was read and it was found in almost every case the chamber was working and operating under the budget.

Reports of the community promotion and publicity, financial, rural affairs and other committees also were read and approved.

SENATORIAL INSULT
In order to avenge its wounded pride in the refusal of President Hoover to turn over to the senate correspondence and documents relating to the negotiation of the London naval treaty, it is now proposed to include in the resolution of ratification a reservation which declares in effect that the treaty is approved with the understanding that there is no secret agreement modifying its terms.
This is what might be expected of senatorial politics, and we might add senatorial capacity. Every senator knows or can know in confidence exactly what has transpired in the negotiation of the treaty. The correspondence and documents in question have been placed by the president at the disposal of each senator under an agreement that he will not make it public. Every senator can, therefore, judge for himself whether there is anything outside the treaty that in any way limits its terms or modifies or enlarges its commitments. Those who have seen the documents and letters know, of course, that there is no qualifying understanding. Those who have not and who decline to receive the information under the conditions imposed by the president have his word in a formal message to the senate that there are no obligations, expressed or implied, outside the treaty itself, and that it constitutes the sole understanding between the participating governments. That is enough. It is all the senate has a right to ask. The president's word in a matter of this kind should be final.
In the light of this situation the attempt to punish or embarrass the president in considering the treaty is unworthy of the senate and contrary to a high conception of public duty. After what the president has done to inform senators privately and to personally guarantee the completeness of the treaty itself and the good faith of the negotiations which produced it, it would be a deliberate insult to him to make ratification conditional on the understanding that there was no secret agreement affecting its terms. Yet there are senators who will support such a proposition. The Democrats while disposed to approve the treaty may lend themselves to the move as a sort of political reprisal against Mr. Hoover. We shall expect to see the insurgent Republicans do the same, for they leave no opportunity to do whatever they can to embarrass him so long as they can make some plausible explanation to their constituents.
The support of a reservation amendment to ratification would be another gross display of senatorial peevishness and pigheadedness. It would be playing the kind of politics that disgraces the country and destroys its confidence in the upper branch of congress. The senate should think twice before it compromises itself in a vain effort to punish and dishonor the president. The people want the treaty ratified and they want it ratified in clean and honorable fashion.

CLIMBING THE TARIFF WALLS
Henry Ford is establishing a big factory in Italy, thus climbing over the Italian tariff wall. He will make cars for Italy with native labor. Ford has already done the same thing in Canada and several other countries, and is rapidly extending the system. Many other American manufacturers are playing the game, too, and will play it harder if foreign countries raise their tariffs against our industries as they threaten to do. It is a process whereby American brains and capital continue their world conquest, but American labor and the American business machinery dependent on the purchasing power of labor lose out. It is one of the prices they pay for excessive protection at home.

GOVERNOR KOHLER'S RECORD
One of Wisconsin's able and valuable governors was the late Major Edward Scofield of Oconto. He was a dignified, forceful executive and during his four years of service Wisconsin experienced a healthy conduct of public business and the passage of meritorious legislation. The corrupt practices act was enacted, a permanent tax commission was established and the anti-pass law adopted. There was a general infusion of business practice into many administrative departments. It was a period of good government, in that it included economical and efficient executive direction of state affairs and was productive of wholesome laws.
Major Scofield was not a demagog or a bleating politician. He understood the political game but he did not sacrifice his honor or his principles to it. He was a successful executive because he had had a long and successful business career. That was the explanation, the almost exclusive explanation, of his meritorious service to the people of Wisconsin. From the professional politician, on the other hand, the state obtains many promises and few performances. He is not trained in business experience, hardly knows the meaning of the word efficiency and spends most of his time being a good fellow and haranguing the multitude on "evils" about which he knows little and cares less.
Gov. Walter J. Kohler is an executive of the Scofield type, in that he has had a business experience that fits him for executive responsibility. Throughout his first term of two years he has given constant exhibitions of his competency for the responsibility. He has already inaugurated reforms, through the cooperation of the legislature, that mean an entirely different method of conducting public business at Madison. He has commenced the institution of a real budget system and has paved the way to save many hundreds of thousands of dollars to taxpayers by consolidating boards and commissions and eliminating those that are obsolete. He has commenced to pull the weeds out of public service and to give the people value received for their money. He is leading important programs for constructive state administration and for reforms that practical experience recommends. He gives a minimum of time to politics and a maximum of time to public business. He is honest, honorable, sincere and serious. These are the reasons why he is making a good governor, one which Wisconsin will do well to continue in office another two years.

PROGRESS IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION
During the congressional session just ended there were introduced in the House 8,229 bills and resolutions. If you think this is a good many, just consider the fact that in the first regular session of the preceding congress the representatives dumped into the hopper 14,143 bills and resolutions. Here is a decrease of nearly 6,000, which makes a notable gain. Let the next congress make as good a showing, and the number of measures submitted for consideration will be reduced to a mere couple of thousand. That would mean far more careful consideration, far less wear and tear on the lawmakers, far less false hope and fear on the part of the public, and a higher quality of legislation. A candidate for the legislature in Ohio is running on a platform of two words, "Fewer Laws." He ought to win.

But nobody in America seemed to get particularly excited about it. In America, the Hunter family set a new world's endurance record, but England seems not to have been overly impressed. We wonder if it will be possible for you to pause in the arguments about the naval pact and pass a few laws forbidding endurance contests of all types? POISON IVY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN
Writing this July 11, I am uncertain whether spring is come or has not. As a rule I cannot be sure winter is over until the last call for first aid for chilblains is in. This year it has not yet arrived, so you see what a quandary I am in. Then the situation is complicated by the brisk demand for something to prevent or relieve ivy poisoning, a demand which has developed early in the season.
Sometime ago E. M. told us here how he had owed some poison ivy leaves on a dare and suffered "the usual result but no internal disorder." That was when he was a boy. To this day, he went on to report, he seems immune to ivy poisoning.
Soon after this E. V. B. wrote from Massachusetts that neither common poison ivy nor poison sumac nor poison elder poisons him any more than clover grass. Once as a boy he saw a farmer's cattle apparently browsing on poison ivy, and the farmer assured him it did not hurt cattle and also that if he would chew a leaf now and then he, too, would be immune against poisoning. So he tried it, and he has continued throughout life chewing one or two of the tender young ivy leaves in the spring each season and demanding quite immune.
Next H. M. wrote from Nebraska (he is now 73) back in New York state where poison ivy abounds along the stone wall fences it made his life miserable. But since one of his neighbors told him to do as the neighbor's doctor had advised the neighbor to do, nibble a tender young poison ivy leaf every morning for several (of course it was a very particular number of mornings, but as Amos says, I ain't a goin' to do it), H. M. has never been poisoned, and that is 30 years of immunity for him. He still eats a leaf of poison ivy now and then when he happens to come upon some in his work.
Before the reader decides to try this truly heroic means of gaining the coveted immunity I warn him that he does so entirely upon his own initiative and responsibility, and I shall have neither sympathy nor success to offer in the event that his little experiment proves painful. Several correspondents of recent years have reported that they suffered severe poisoning when they tried eating poison ivy leaves or berries. On the other hand, the majority who have reported their experience declare that they suffered no unpleasant effects and believe they have gained immunity by the practice.
Several instances of poisoning reported to me the other week, native's admitted that he had eaten several leaves.
If I were going to try this experiment I should proceed with caution. For the first step I should pinch off a wee streak of a young leaf the size of the head of a pin, not a coupling pin but a "little" straight wire pin such as you have to have to see the neighborhood kids' circus. I would pinch it off, moreover, with tweezers or something, or wear rubber gloves to protect my skin from other contact with the ivy. Then I should carry the bit of leaf in my mouth a minute or two and no longer. If no unpleasant consequences ensued I should have another try as it three days later, this time taking, say, half a very small leaf. If this proved comfortable, at the end of the week I should chew one entire leaf. Then I should call it a season, and content myself to worry along till the following autumn or spring for another course of treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Pimples and Blackheads
What to do for a girl 15 years old whose face is just full of pimples and blackheads. Certainly I have tried it all.
Answer—Your attitude is unfortunate. Ask her to write to me, enclosing a stamped envelope bearing her address, and I'll mail her some advice which will help her. You must not imagine that there is any unpleasant significance in such trouble. It is almost universal among healthy young people.
Kindly print the recipe for the prevention of perspiration under the arms. (J. C.)
Answer—Paint the skin of the armpit once daily for four or five days with a solution of half an ounce of aluminum chlorid in three ounces of water, and let it dry before dressing. After that, an application two or three times a week will suffice to control the trouble.
Conjugalism
1. Is it possible for second cousins to marry? 2. Should second cousins marry would their children be deformed or idiotic? (Miss L. M. A.)
Answer—1. From the eugenic point of view there is no objection to the marriage of cousins. 2. Only in case there is some heritable taint or defect in the family.
The Tonsil Talkers
Would you advise me to have my tonsils removed by X-ray? I have had one treatment, but was told I will need seven more. Friends say this method is absolutely no good, and one doctor says that it is dangerous. (A. B.)
Answer—In the hands of a competent physician the method is safe enough. It doesn't remove tonsils; it merely induces atrophy or shrinkage. It is not very satisfactory in cases where a focus of infection is to be cleared up. On the whole I should advise diathermy extirpation of the tonsils rather than X-ray treatment.

S AID Clowry, "Gee, I'll bet that I could spy that war plane I'm glad to say, if I'm allowed to do it." Then the spinning woman smiled and answered, "You would have much fun, but likely you'd spoil all I've done. I hate to disappoint you, but it's no job for a child."
"She's right," the Travel Man broke in. "You wouldn't know where to begin. 'Tis best to stand and watch her. She's been trained to do it right." So 'bout an hour they made their stay and then they went upon their way. The Tinies waved goodbye just as they traveled out of sight.
The Travel Man then said, "Right now I think I'll get some rest somewhere. I see a place where we can sit out in the cooling breeze." Then Scouty answered, "I'm tired, too. I'll gladly do the same as you. I know that I'll appreciate just looking around a case."
Not very far away they found a big flat stone upon the ground. They all sat down to watch the Persian people walking by. The men's gowns were a sight to see, all loose and flowing as could be. Said Clowry, "What queer clothes they wear. I've often wondered why."
The Travel Man explained that they were living in their own street way. "Their clothes seem queer to us," said he. "But they are the Persian style. Now, when some Persian looks at you, no doubt your clothes look funny, too. In fact when we have passed some folks, I know we've made them smile."
The next place that they went was grand—a very spacious copper stand, where some old man sold copper wares to folks who came his way. Amidst the things he sat alone. It seemed like being on a throne. Said Clowry, "Gee, he must get tired. If he sits there all day."

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON
BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—If the United States senate were to pass that big six-footer, Henry Fountain Ashurst of Arizona, one of the most skillful users of words the hill has seen in years would be missed.
Few can delight the ear as does Ashurst. Few can charm his listeners as does Ashurst when his voice rings out in the senate chamber in words—new, strange, melodious, suggestive.
His voice toys with them as he speaks. He seems reluctant at times to let an obvious favorite escape his lips.
There is, for example, the incident in the senate just the other day when he arose to reply to criticism on his stand as regards Boulder dam. It was Ashurst at his best.
For 19 minutes he held the floor and the attention of all within earshot. Those in the galleries leaned forward that they might hear all the newspaper boys pushed up of paper aside. Senator Robinson of Arkansas turned completely around in his chair on the floor that he might face the speaker.
NOT TRITE
No oft-used expression find their way into Ashurst's speeches.
Thus, on this occasion, instead of saying that he was on his feet not to heap coals of fire on his critics, his way of putting it was, "I am here to put a little more fuel on the fire."
"I do not now arise to chant any Jeremiahs...."
Referring to various parts of the criticism on his Boulder Dam stand, Ashurst gleefully exclaimed:
"Here....is an occult gem which glitters like an opidian eye...."
And again:
"Arizona is indeed invited to a feast—but it is a Bacchical feast, a Bacchical feast, where the host makes only a pretense of serving viands, and at which feast there is simply an illusion of plenty whilst the viands are all imaginary...."
EPIGRAMS
His entire speech was filled with references such as these.
Rich in epigrams, as are all his senate speeches, there were no fewer than a half dozen in this one which required hardly 10 minutes. Here are some choice ones:
"The canary's present and future depends upon the cat's good will."
"Opulent with ironies are all human affairs."
"The newspaper reporter seldom has time for deliberate aim, but must frequently 'shoot from the hip,' and of course sometimes misses the mark."
Ashurst apparently gets as much pleasure as his audience in his lavish use of words. He delights, as he sits at his desk on the floor listening to a colleague, to smile at him, nod his head in approval and in other ways show his reaction to a well-formed sentence of phrase.

Seen And Heard In New York
BY RICHARD MASSOCK
New York—This business of being an author, with a sudden reputation to keep up, is just like trying on a family man like Chic Sale.
Since a couple of St. Louis men happened upon a copy of his now famous manuscript about a year ago and put it between yellow covers for America to read, most a million copies have been sold.
Chic has been able to buy a new car for Mrs. Sale and the four small Sales—a big Sale-boat, if you'll have it that way.
More than that, he has moved out of suburban Scarsdale, N. Y., to a country estate in Connecticut.
Before he became an author, he was merely a comic specialist.
Now he is so busy with radio broadcasts, the preparation for his next fall's show, writing and other demands of fame that he has to take his wife home. Then, when the four kids romp through the house, he has to bring it back to his Broadway office.
PROFITABLE APIN'
Chic's age is about the only secret in his past. He will only admit that he was born on a farm near Huron, S. D., during a cyclone. He is slender, smooth shaven and appears to be about 38 years old. His first name is Charles.
His father is a dentist at Urbana, Ill. Chic got his start at the University of Illinois "jest apin' folks." He never found out what he was studying to be, but he still wears his college fraternity pin.
Vaudeville landed him in New York, where he signed up with the Shuberts and eventually became a revue star.
His ambition is to be a good father.
His children have seen his impersonations of rural characters, but they don't know what it's all about.
He never clowns, does not like parties and his family will tell you that at home he isn't funny.
Maybe that is because he is always saying a thing is "mighty, mighty" something, and "I'll tell you why."
HIMSELF A CARPENTER
Chic's hobby is carpentry. work and he asserts with a wistful expression that shiping is his favorite amusement. His favorite food is chicken, he is very fond of malted milks and he smokes anything but cornlinks. He plays golf and prefers bow ties.
The way he can play that battered horn he uses with such doleful effect in his vaudeville act is nobody's business but the neighbors.
His book was voted the favorite of the Skidmore School, a woman's college at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.
He has played in five movies and has been asked to make more when he has time.
His sister Virginia also is a comic hit in Hollywood.

Commission Plans Hearing, Charging Violation of Federal Law

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—Drastic action has been taken by the federal radio commission against an experimental television broadcasting station in Chicago, charged with transmitting certain commodities for which it received pay, in violation of regulations.

Marking the first time that it has attempted to regulate programs of this newest offshoot of radio, the commission has refused to renew, until a hearing is held next fall, the license of station W9XAO, operated by the Western Television Corporation, in Chicago. The license of the station, according to commission records, expired more than a month ago.

The commission's action was taken even while that agency is in recess over the summer. Commissioners Harold A. LaFount and W. D. L. Starbuck, voted for the hearing, subject to the ratification of the three other members, in pursuance to procedure adopted before that body adjourned.

FOR EXPERIMENTS ONLY

Television licenses, it is made clear, are issued on an experimental basis only, with the specific provision that they may not be commercialized by sponsored programs. Official reports have come to the commission, it was said, that the Western Television Corporation station had been presenting visual programs over the air which had been sponsored, thus securing revenue from the operation of an experimental station, licensed only to further the visual art.

Moreover, it was declared, the station had failed to adhere to the commission's regulation requiring that all experimental stations submit detailed reports each three months relating the results of the experiments and the purposes for which the experimental facilities were used. This, coupled with the reports of illicit television advertising, caused the two commissioners to set for hearing the renewal application of the station.

ORDER PROBE

In the meantime a thorough investigation of the charges against the station has been ordered. It is possible that the station will file a new request for temporary continuance of its license until the hearing is held next fall.

The Chicago station, of the score of experimental television stations in the country has been synchronized with broadcasting station WJBO, in Chicago, thus offering sight and sound programs to the radio audience having the necessary short wave equipment. It actually has been offering radio movies, and the company itself is one of the pioneers in the television field.

The station has been operating on the experimental television channel of 2,000 to 2,100 kilocycles in the short wave spectrum, with 500 watts power.

Recently the commission certified to the department of justice a list of three experimental television stations which it alleged have been commercializing. The identity of the stations was not divulged, but the department was asked by the commission to bring court action against them if it were ascertained that they were transgressing the radio law.

FAVORS SPECIAL POLICE FORCE TO FIGHT REDS

New York—(AP)—Elihu Root favors organization of a special federal police force to combat Communist activities.

In a letter to Ralph M. The letter adds:

"Now we have reason to believe that an assault is being made by secret means, supported by the resources of a great empire aimed at the destruction of our system of government, and we find that the federal government has no police force available."

STOP AT ACCIDENTS, MOTORISTS WARNED

Many a motorist, in all innocence, lays himself open to a technical charge of being a "hit and run" driver.

This situation is due to the fact that, broadly defined, a "hit and run" driver is one who leaves the scene of a mishap without making his identity known. It makes no difference how negligible the accident may be, how absolutely evident it may be that the damage done was not enough to warrant stopping and talking it over. Regardless of all this, the position of the person involved in any mishap is technically improved by stopping and making his identity known.

Thousands of minor accidents occur daily in the traffic stream. In most instances both drivers assume that the damage is too trivial to justify stopping to check its extent or leave their names. It is well, however, to be certain that both do feel this way about it. There have been instances in which one driver, making such an assumption, later discovered that his number had been taken by the other and the case reported to the authorities. His chance for an adequate defense is slim, indeed.

Police, traffic and court officials do not want to be bothered with such cases. They want the drivers to settle them between themselves wherever possible. It is well for the individual, however, to be sure they are settled. It is technically sounder.

CIGARET MAKERS DISCLOSES DROP IN PRODUCTION

Decrease in May Is First Backward Movement in Several Years

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—Cigaret production for the first time in several years, has shown a drop in recent months. The figures for May, the latest available from the department of commerce, show an output of 1,309,767,513 cigarettes. This compares with 1,316,896,873 for May 1929. The drop of 87,129,360 in this one month was sufficient to bring the total output for the first five months of 1930 below that for the corresponding period of 1929, the totals being 47,674,639,569 and 47,738,529,569 respectively.

Neither the trade nor government officials appear to take the drop seriously. They assert that this is a mere temporary slump. The slump off is attributed by some to the reduction in advertising schedules put into effect by some producers. At least it is known that one concern which continues to advertise extensively in the newspapers is not feeling any drop in demand.

The decline in sales, if not taken seriously by the cigarette manufacturers, at least has brought reaction to the National Education association.

This campaign, it is known, will feature efforts to induce newspaper publishers to refuse to accept cigarette and cigar advertising. The members of the education association are not a unit in the fight against tobacco. Some feel that such a campaign should be outside the activities of the organization. Government officials anticipate that the campaign will be strongly pressed none the less. Federal educational authorities have given absolutely no indication that they will be other than interested bystanders.

The tobacco manufacturers do not regard the attitude of the teachers' organization as a serious menace. They feel confident of being able to place advertising as effectively as in the past. Some assert that an unprompted attack frequently has so severe a back-lash as to promote rather than retard the movement of those attacked.

Plans Ready For Picnic Of Churches

FINAL arrangements have been made for the second annual picnic of churches of the Fox river valley of United Lutheran Church of America next Sunday at Menasha park. The picnic is being sponsored by the Brotherhood of St. Paul Lutheran church, Neenah, of which the Rev. C. E. Fritz is pastor. Members and their families will be present from Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Appleton.

The picnic commemorates the four hundred anniversary of the Augsburg confession. The Rev. G. H. Gensler, D. D., Racine, will preach the sermon at the church service at 11 o'clock in the morning. There will be games for men, women and children, and prizes will be awarded the winners. A basket lunch will be served at noon and coffee will be provided.

There will be three ball games during the day, the first to be played at 2:30 in the morning between Oshkosh and Neenah. At 2 o'clock Appleton and Fond du Lac will play and at 4 o'clock Appleton will play the previous games will compete for the valley championship. Games will be played under Kitten ball rules and teams will be made up of members of the respective congregations. H. E. Christoph, Neenah, is general chairman of ball games, and the Appleton committee includes Ed. Deichen, Charles Maahs, and Wilbur Tesch. The transportation committee is composed of J. Koppin, Gust Tesch and A. Flentia.

The Menasha high school band will give a concert at 2:15 and there will be various sports at 3 o'clock. In the evening there will be a pageant, "The Magna Charta of Confessions," presented by 20 characters and the choir of St. Paul church.

Members of the Appleton committee will meet at 7:30 Thursday night at the home of Gust Tesch, 318 N. Richmond-st.

LARGE CROWD IS AT PICNIC OF AUXILIARY

About 70 people attended the annual picnic of the Appleton Legion Auxiliary Monday at Pierce park, at which husbands and children of the members were guests. A business session was held at 4 o'clock and plans for the national convention to be held in Sheboygan in August were discussed. Routine business was transacted.

Games provided entertainment for the children, prizes being awarded to Virginia Gorrow, Jerry Arens, Ben Rosenthal, Betty Boelson, Ellen Mae Arnold, and Dick Arens. Mrs. Edward Lutz and Mrs. George Hogreiver were in charge of games. A basket supper was served at 6:15. The general committee included Mrs. Perry Brown, Mrs. Lutz and Mrs. Hogreiver.

The next meeting will be August 25 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at Pierce park. This will be a business meeting and a report will be given of the convention at that time.

PICNICS

The Sunday school of Emanuel Evangelical church will hold a picnic at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Erb park for members of the church and Sunday school. Arthur Erdman and Otto Polzin are included on the committee in charge of arrangements. There will be games for all and lunch will be served.

Mrs. Frank Zschaechner's group of the Congregational church will be entertained at a picnic Wednesday at Pierce park. A social time will be held in the afternoon and a basket supper will be served. Plans will be made for next month's activities at this time.

The annual picnic of Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Pierce park. Cards and dice will be played. Each member will bring her own dishes. In case of rain the picnic will be held at Eagle hall.

Lady Eagles will hold a picnic Wednesday at Pierce park. Cards will be played at 2:30 and a basket lunch will follow.

A basket picnic will be given by Zion Lutheran Brotherhood of Zion Lutheran church Sunday at Erb park. Members of the congregation and their friends are invited to attend. Each one will bring his own lunch.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

A meeting of Zion Lutheran Mission society of Zion Lutheran church will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Erb park. Hostesses will be Mrs. Frieda Weiss, Mrs. Lillian Weiss, Mrs. Wynne Weiss, Mrs. Emma Weismann, and Mrs. Tillie Ziska. The entertainment committee includes Mrs. Amanda Rosberg and Mrs. Elsie Stocken.

Mrs. Fred Peterson's church of the Congregational church was entertained at the T. E. Orshon cottage on Lake Winnebago Tuesday. A picnic lunch was served at noon.

LODGE NEWS

Deborah Rebekah lodge will meet at 7:45 Wednesday evening at Odd Fellow hall. Routine business will be transacted.

Charles C. Beer camp, Spanish War Veteran, will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the armory. The principal business will be the closing of convention matters.

Smart folk are wearing tubable frocks for all-day occasions. A smart practical dress of printed sportswear linen in nile green print shows preference for lingerie trim in handkerchief weight linen. It matches the ground of the print and appears in vest, collar, cuffs and belt. The scalloped detail is chic and is echoed in skirt with box-pleat effect at front.

Cotton pique of pale pink cast is lovely medium for its development. White shantung with vivid blue dots with vest and belt of self-material is swagger. Make the collar and cuffs of plain white shantung with bias binding at edge in blue.

MAKE PLANS FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of St. Joseph parish will be held at Pierce park on Sunday, July 27, according to preliminary announcements made by committee members Monday morning. It is expected the outing will be the largest ever held by the parish. An effort is being made to secure two buses for the occasion. The Menasha high school organization, and also the St. Mary parochial school band of this city.

PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. August Zietlow, Seymour, were surprised Sunday at their home by a group of relatives and friends in honor of their fortieth wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, Wittenburg; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, Elberton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krieger, and son, Arnold, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. William Bass, New London; Walter Zietlow and family, Reedsville; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Zinger, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krueger, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Winters, Seymour; Miss Pearl Winters, Black Creek; and Miss Helene Helnitz, Milwaukee. Dinner and supper were served to the guests.

A number of relatives and friends surprised Victor Hob at Albia park Thursday evening in honor of his birthday anniversary. The evening was spent informally.

ENGAGEMENTS

The engagement of Miss Anna Frances Despins, 716 Boyds-ave, Kaukauna, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Despins, Racine, to Henry Henter, son of Mrs. Michael Henter, 403 Eighth-st., Kaukauna, was announced Sunday at a picnic at Albia park. Appleton. About 13 relatives and friends were present. No date has been set for the wedding.

Women Find Pleasure On City's Golf Courses

THE warm days continue to send the crowds to the country, and golf courses in the vicinity of Appleton are proving very popular with both men and women. Both Butte des Morts Golf club and Riverview Country club hold weekly golf tournaments for women members, which have been largely attended during the past weeks.

Match play against par with a two-thirds handicap was the event at Riverview Country club Monday. Thirty-five women took part. Mrs. Roy Marston won first prize on the first round and second prize was won by Mrs. J. F. King. On the second round Mrs. H. B. Fisher won first prize and Mrs. M. T. Ray was awarded second place. Miss Louise Ulrich, Neenah, was chairman of the day's events. Mrs. Harry Ingold will have charge of the golf luncheon next Monday. In case of rain bridge will be played.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED FOR CHURCH RALLY

Committees were appointed for the fall rally of Women's Missionary societies of this district of United Lutheran Church at the meeting of the board Monday night at the home of Miss Minnie Drasjke, Menasha. Mrs. Si Cameron, Appleton, was named chairman of the program committee, Miss L. Yaley, Neenah, will be in charge of decorations, and Miss Drasjke, Menasha, will be chairman of the luncheon committee. Other members include Miss G. Fitzgibbons, Neenah attendance; Mrs. Albert Roehl, Appleton, social; Mrs. Rennie Burneiser, Appleton, publicity. It was decided to extend an invitation to Oshkosh to attend.

The rally will be held October 12, at Neenah. Miss Nona Diehl, secretary of the Young Women's Congress, Philadelphia, Pa., will be the speaker. Mrs. N. K. Pederson, Milwaukee, and Mrs. W. E. Black, Three Lakes, officers in the organization, will be invited to attend.

Members were urged to send in their reservations for the third Young Women's Congress which will be held October 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 at Racine.

The next meeting of the board will be August 11, at the home of Mrs. Lillie Knoke, 913 N. Division-st.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Isabella Milhaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Milhaupt, 326 W. Winnebago-st., to Ivan H. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stone, Fisk, took place at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Theresa church. The Rev. M. A. Hauch performed the ceremony. Miss Celia Harriman, Madison, acted as maid of honor, Miss Eleanor Stone, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Margaret Kalmes, Milwaukee, attended as flower girl. The bridegroom was attended by Clem Steidl as best man. A wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Northern to 34 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Stone left on a two weeks trip to the north and on their return will make their home at 326 W. Winnebago-st.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stone and daughter, Eleanor, J. Lockhart, Fisk; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kalmes and daughter, Mary Margaret, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. H. Arens, Stockbridge, and Miss Celia Harriman, Madison.

CARD PARTIES

BLIND MAN, DENIED RIGHT TO WED GIRL, MARRIES HER MOTHER

McLeansboro, Ill. — (AP) — Unable to marry Rosa Lee Files, 15, Marcellus Bowers, 17-year-old blind man of this city, today was the husband of the girl's mother, Mrs. Lolia Files, 53, also of McLeansboro.

Accompanied by the mother and daughter, Bowers was refused a marriage license to wed the girl at Mr. Vernon and East St. Louis. Authorities were notified and the girl has been sent to a state training school for girls.

The girl said she had no desire to wed the aged blind man but that her mother wanted her to. The mother, who is partly blind, testified she did not try to force the daughter to marry Bowers but merely gave her reluctant consent.

After mother and daughter were separated, Bowers wed Mrs. Files. The ceremony was performed by Judge Underwood who ordered the girl sent to the school.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

STANDING slim and straight and wide-eyed, back of the vanity dresser in the furniture store, Sue heard Barbara's frenzied words: "And you dare to ask me to marry you, knowing that?"

"Other people have been married without any kind of help, not even a washing machine," Jack's voice was still light, but it was growing tighter. Sue wished that a salesman would come and remembered that she had seen only the one man who had waited on her, who had gone into the storage room to find a certain type of roller which her mother needed, and another clerk who was busy with other customers.

"Yes, people like that Sue Merryman who never knew any better."

"See here, Barbara—Sue's one of the finest girls I ever knew or hope to know, and any man who gets her is darn lucky. We'll not talk about her just now." Jack's voice was getting steeper.

"Oh, won't we?" Barbara laughed tauntingly. "I suppose she has been taught to do things with floor mops and dish cloths, too. If I get pressed for help sometime, I can ask her to come in and scrub the kitchen floor."

"Barbara! Will you please..."

"Not just yet, darling!" The silken voice was taunting. "Why shouldn't she? She's in your employ. I didn't know that you wanted a servant for a while."

The salesman's suave tones interrupted. "Oh, how do you do, Mr. Thornton. I'm so sorry I've kept you waiting. I... Have you seen a young lady around? I had a package for her."

"We've been all alone," Jack answered, while Sue flattened herself against the dressing table. A wild idea danced into her head. What if they decided to come back there to inspect? But they would not! The furniture all faced the aisle. Will relief come through her. The voices grew a little fainter as the three moved up the aisle. As soon as she could escape unnoticed she would slip away. Sue decided. She peered around the edge of the dressing table to see if she could leave. Her eyes met their own reflection in a looking glass just across the narrow passage, and she looked straight into Jack's mirrored face. Evidently he had roamed back, exploring silently, while Barbara did the conversing with the salesman.

Sue realized that it was her reflection at which Jack was gazing. Maybe she could get away yet! She started to move silently among the furniture, stumbling a little, breathlessly. The humor of it struck her fancy and she wanted to laugh, but she checked the mirth.

Then she was aware that steps were sounding behind her. She turned her head.

"Sue!" Jack's voice was low, and a laugh smothered it. "What in the name of Chippendale and all the rest are you doing back here?"

"Hiding," Sue answered, sitting down on a low table. Now that she was caught the sense of fright was gone.

"But why?"

"There are times when three is a regular convention and this was one of them, evidently," she said, but her eyes were merry. "I heard you coming and thought I'd stay out of sight, then slip away, but I didn't get to. Tell Barbara to buy this table for sitting on. It makes a mighty good chair if you have lots of guests and are crowded for room."

Sue hadn't heard the returning footsteps. Now Barbara's voice interrupted. "I'd like to see this vanity from the rear."

NEXT: Barbara voices her suspicions.

NAME DELEGATE TO CONVENTION

Miss Marjorie Foldin was elected delegate to the state young people's convention at Lomira August 4 to 10 at the picnic of the Christian Endeavor society of Emanuel Evangelical church Monday at Neenah park. Miss Dorothy Krueger was elected alternate. Miss Florence Schmidt was chosen delegate to the district convention at Forest Junction the latter part of August.

About 27 members were present at the picnic. A picnic supper was served and a social time took place. The committee in charge included Miss Rosetta Selig, Miss Mildred Lembeck, Miss Joyce Neinstedt, Miss Marion Uebele, and Miss Florence Schmidt.

For Normal Girlhood

"My daughter Magdalen did not seem to develop as she should. At times she had no pep at all and couldn't get her school work very easily. For four years we doctored her off and on. Then a friend told us how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her years ago, so I got a bottle for Magdalen. Her nerves are quieting, her general health is better and she is now as normal as other girls."—Mrs. J. Bartholdi, Thompson's Addition, The Dalles, Oregon.

WE WOMEN

by Betty Brainerd

ACTIONS LOUDER THAN WORDS
"Dear Betty Brainerd:
I have been keeping company with a girl for two years, seeing her every evening. For the first six months we got along wonderfully—then quarrels—and for the past three months very serious quarrels. I tell her I will not come to see her any more but after a week I go and fairly have to beg her to come back to me. I did this because I love her and cannot understand why she won't listen to me, because I know she loves me.

"The other evening I went to see her, did something which was nothing more than a mere trifle, and she broke me out in front of company. When I was ready to go home I told her I felt hurt and asked her to apologize. She refused saying: "You've done the same thing to me." So I said I was through and she said, "All right, if you want to be that way."

"When we are getting along on good terms she tells me she couldn't do without me, but when I don't go around her she never gives me a break. I don't want to lose her nor do I want to run after her again. She is awfully jealous of me. Do you think if I paid attention to other girls that it would bring her back to her senses?"

Paying attention to other girls will not effect a cure. It will only aggravate matters, and she will be convinced that she is really justified in her present behavior.

She may say she loves you—but her conduct does not corroborate her statement. Put her to the test. In this present quarrel let her make the first move toward reconciliation. She will do it if what she says is true—that she cannot live without you.

Prove yourself stronger than this girl. Teach her that when you say a thing you mean it. You have told her before that you were through—yet each time have gone back to her. She is not worried now because she expects the same thing to happen again.

If you have any hope of ever being happy with her don't go back until she herself asks you to come. And then don't go too eagerly. It will take her some time to realize that you mean what you say, so do not expect her to call at once, if she does not, be thankful that your eyes are opened before and not after marriage—and consider yourself well out of an unfortunate situation.

Some girls enjoy showing their power over men. It gratifies their vanity. The great wonder is that such girls always find a willing victim. Now is the time to make her respect you.

Think well before you marry her. Marriage is not a veil but a magnifying-glass, which brings out every fault.

Are you troubled and do you need advice? The author will reply personally to any reader sending stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Expect 150 Golfers To Enter Northeastern Tourney

BUTTE DES MORTS CLUB TO BE MECCA OF N. E. PLAYERS

Qualifying Rounds for Various Flights to Be Played Thursday

BUTTE DES MORTS golf course and club house will be the mecca of between 150 and 200 golfers from throughout the state, who are expected to gather here Thursday, Friday and Saturday to take part in the annual Northeastern Wisconsin Open Tournament.

Thus far about 110 reservations have been received from golfers of Milwaukee, Wausau, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Stevens Point, and other cities in the state. Local golfers and those living in nearby cities have been requested to send in their reservations as early as possible to avoid confusion on Thursday.

The qualifying rounds for the various flights will start at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, continuing throughout the day. Tournament competition will get underway at 9 o'clock Friday morning continuing through to Saturday afternoon when the final matches will be staged.

ELECT OFFICERS

The annual dinner and business meeting of Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association directors will be held in the Butte des Morts club house at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. Officers of the coming year are to be elected and pairings for the tournament will be announced as well as results of the qualifying rounds. Other business matters also will be discussed.

Twenty-one beautiful prizes are to be awarded immediately after the finals are run off Saturday afternoon. Prizes in the Class B, C, D and E flights are just as beautiful as those which are to be awarded in the "sharpshooters" or Class A division, according to members of the committee in charge of prizes.

Although in almost perfect shape, the course is receiving a final grooming preliminary to the tournament. The greens have been developed into veritable green velvet rugs, and are excellently fast and tricky, capable of upsetting the accurate puts of the expert golfer.

FAIRWAYS DIFFICULT

A shot into the rough will be a shot wasted on the Butte des Morts course. The rough has not been mowed for a few weeks, and the grass is an exceptionally tough quality, similar to swamp grass. Nothing short of a niblick or masher-niblick will be able to lift the ball out of the turf.

A perfect shot down the fairway, however, will give any golfer real satisfaction. The fairways are rolling and in some cases the course will make the shots rather than the shots make the course.

The shots on the exceptionally long holes are the most important, and must be held to the fairways, or else a par four becomes a five, six or seven.

"Butte des Morts course is in finer shape now than it ever has been, and should make things interesting for the Northeastern Wisconsin tournament players," M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh, secretary of the association stated Monday in a letter received here by members of the tournament committee.

Mr. Carroll played the course over the past weekend. Oshkosh is sending a large delegation to the tourney, according to Mr. Carroll.

PLAY DOUBLES MATCHES IN NATIONAL TOURNEY

Kansas City—(P)—Minus Bill Tilden, Frank Hunter, and a half dozen other first ten ranking stars of United States tennis, the twenty-first annual Clay Courts Tennis tournament was in its starting entry list of nearly 100 has an array of talent which may make history.

Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City is playing on his home court. Wray Brown, St. Louis veteran, is conceded to be playing his best tennis in years. Bruce Barnes of Austin, Texas, started off as if his number of seeding was not bothering him. The rangy, smashing Frank Shields of New York City seems on his game. Emmett Pare, Chicago, is determined to demonstrate his ability.

Doubles are scheduled to begin today with the defending champions, Frederic Mercur, Harrisburg, Pa., and J. Gilbert Hill, Orange, N. J., slated to play Carl Black and L. K. Scott of Louisville, Ky.

NEENAH YOUTH LOSES IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Milwaukee—(P)—Among results in yesterday's sixth annual Badger State Chess and Tennis tournament were the following: Men's singles, Robert McMillan, Oshkosh, defeated Glenn Gordon, Watertown, 6-1, 6-0; Louis Reckert, Milwaukee, defeated Charles Pieper, La Crosse, 6-1, 6-2; Jean Burton, Milwaukee, defeated D. L. Tryhail, Elkhorn, 7-5, 6-2.

Robert McMillan defeated Earl Tetting, Milwaukee, 6-4; 6-4; Louis Reckert defeated John Strange, Neenah, 6-3; 7-5.

Boys' singles, Harrison O'Neil, Milwaukee, defeated Billy Strange, Neenah, 6-0; 6-0.

BATTALINO TO MEET FILIPINO FIGHTER

Hartford, Conn.—(P)—Bat Battalion, of Hartford, defends his featherweight championship here to night in a 15-round match with Ignacio Fernandez, hard-hitting Filipino. The bout, scheduled for last night, was postponed because of a heavy rain storm.

HORNSBY IS COMING BACK; VEECKS TAKES CRACK AT PROPHETS

Chicago—(P)—President William Veeck has taken a final verbal smack at the prophets who have been saying Rogers Hornsby had played his last baseball for the Cubs.

"It is improbable that Hornsby will be available for regular service when he reports to manager McCarthy a week from Thursday," Veeck said last night. "But we expect him to take over his old job at second base by August 1."

"This ought to end rumors that his days with the Cubs are over."

Hornsby returned to Chicago yesterday and planned a workout at Wrigley field today.

Pettibones-Telephone Co. (Fourth ward).

THURSDAY GAMES

Coated Paper Co.-Power Co. (Roosevelt).

Appleton Machine Co.-Appleton Chair Co. (Wilson).

A few upsets are expected this week in the National Softball league, judging from the way in which a few of the teams such as the Fox River Paper Co., and Telephone company nines have been delving ahead during the past week or two.

Last week the Fox River team and Telephone company nine played a hard fought battle, the paper makers winning 7 to 2. The week before the Fox River Paper team put up a stiff 12 inning battle with the strong Wisconsin Michigan Power company team, and dropped it 16 to 14.

Thursday night the Coated Paper Co., nine will clash with the power makers at Roosevelt school, while the machine makers meet the chair factory aggregation out at Wilson school grounds.

VETERAN JOCKEY QUILTS ZIEGLER

New York—(P)—Mack Garner, veteran jockey, has severed his connection with the stable of William Ziegler, Jr. "Uncle Mack" has been riding for Mr. Ziegler for three years at an estimated wage of $15,000 annually. One of the best jockeys in the business, Garner has had little success with the Ziegler horses this season. Several large racing establishments are understood to be dickering for the jockey's services.

Jones Holds National Titles For Seven Years

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Chicago—(P)—Old as this game of golf may be when the final put is struck, Bobby Jones' marvelous achievements along the fairways and greens never can be equaled, even if the great Georgian were never again to appear on a championship field. His triumph in twelve national championships—across a brief span of seven summers—is but an incident in the glorious chapters he has written in the long history of the sport that began in the Scottish mountains.

He has not been without a national championship for seven years; twice he has held two simultaneously and at the present he holds three. Before the summer wanes he may achieve still another and become the first undisputed ruler of the golf world. Since 1919, Jones has been a finalist or runner-up in seventeen national championships and since 1923 has only once finished worse than second in the British and United States Open championships.

When he captured the open championship at Interlachen, Saturday, he became the second man ever to win that title four times—Willie Anderson, a skillful Scot of golf's early days in America—being the other. He is the first player to win the championship in successive seasons since Johnny McDermott's last triumph in 1912.

DALE NINE DEFEATS BERLIN TEAM, 3-2

Winning Marker Scored by Home Team Late in Tenth Inning

The Dale baseball club defeated the Berlin club in a close and hard-fought battle at Dale Sunday afternoon and when the smoke of the 10th inning tussle had cleared the home team found itself at the better end of a 3 to 2 score. The game was another in the Mid-Wisconsin State league.

Alberts occupied the mound for the Berlin team, and Merence for the Dale aggregation. Both pitchers hurled good ball, the former allowing but seven hits and the latter eight hits. The Berlin pitcher struck out 13 batters, while the Dale hurler retired only three from the plate via that route. The Berlin hurler, however, never passed six men to first while the Dale pitcher allowed only one base on balls.

Both teams were held scoreless during the initial frames of the fracas, but early in the third inning the Berlin team took a two run lead. The Dale nine finished their half of the third frame with one score. No runs were tallied in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames, but in their half of the seventh frame the Dale nine tied the score. The winning run was scored late in the over-time period.

THREE BALL GAMES ON NATIONAL LEAGUE CARD

Four games are scheduled this week in the National Softball league, but only three are to be played, because Company D, National guard team is still at Camp Douglas. The postponed game between the Company D nine and the Brandt Fords will be played next Monday evening.

Tuesday night the American legion nine with Lothar Graef in the pitcher's box will clash with the Badger Printers. The game between the Bankers and Company D has been postponed.

Thursday evening the Atlas mill nine and the Forester aggregation will meet, and Friday evening the Brandt Fords will clash with the Valley Iron Works team.

MANAGER OF BRAVES SUGGESTS NEW WAYS OF PITCHING BALL

Morrill Believes Plate Should Be Moved 3 Feet Closer to Box

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

New York—(P)—At a time when both owners and managers of baseball clubs are moaning loudly about poor pitching and lack of good pitchers, an old-timer in the game rises up to offer a few suggestions that might well be considered by the big league managers.

John F. Morrill, former manager and captain of the Boston Braves, who is one of the most thorough students of the game, believes there are effective remedies for the present slump in pitching.

First of all, Morrill said in an interview today, the pitching mound is elevated too much at present. Many will agree with him. An artificial mound, not to exceed sixteen inches, was approved by the rules for the benefit of pitchers who were short and who had a fast, high ball. Of course it also helped pitchers who were tall, but there have been many more pitchers of average height than of Cy Young's altitude.

Morrill declares the pitching would be better if the pitcher delivered the ball from the flat surface of the diamond. At least he thinks it is worth an experiment.

WOULD ADVANCE PLATE

Another change he suggests is that the pitcher's plate be brought three feet closer to home plate, rather than be moved to the center of the diamond, as some have advocated. For many years close students of the game and those who coach the plate be placed in the center of the diamond, and its present position is almost in the center. But the farther the pitcher is away from home plate, the better chance the batter has to get a line on the ball and swing on it—especially with the practice now in vogue of throwing in a nice, new ball on any provocation. This business of tossing out new balls has come to the point where there are not more than three umpires in the major league who will refuse to throw a ball back to the bench if there is an abrasion on it a quarter of an inch wide. Pitchers are certain to have less success with smooth, new balls than with balls that have been roughened a bit by use on the field.

Most club owners have given up the notion that there is anything to the talk about a "lively" ball. The "lively" ball was good bunk for a time to fool those who did not analyze pitching conditions. It provided a good alibi for pitchers and some managers who were on the losing side.

Good pitchers are able to keep hits down and it is not the construction of the ball that has so much to do with pitching. What handicaps pitchers today is the constant and absurd use of new balls, combined with lack of control and lack of good curve pitching by the mound mechanics.

There is only one major league club that can express considerable satisfaction today with its pitching staff and that is the Washington Senators, incidentally put over the champion pitching trade of the season when they obtained Crowder from St. Louis.

COACHES TRAIN AT SUMMER SESSIONS

Over 100 Athletic Leaders Attending University of Indiana

New York—(P)—Backs are streaking down under pump linemen are learning to "pull out" and "box" and punners are being tacked high and low at the Universities of Indiana and Illinois, these days, for the annual summer school for coaches at these institutions are running wide open. Football, however, is only one of the sports upon which professional attention is being focused.

Harry Gill, veteran track coach at the University of Illinois, is in charge of coaching classes at the Urbana school. Gill, in returning to the Illini campus, terminated a year's vacation from his coaching duties. He likewise terminated a lot of foolish talk that he had quit for good. Gill's been coaching at Illinois since 1904, and the whole sport world knows what a swell job he's done.

Approximately 200 students from all sections are enrolled in the coaching course, which, in addition to football and track, includes basketball, baseball and numerous other subjects in physical education.

At Bloomington, Ind., approximately 100 coaches from hither and yon, have been learning lessons in athletics at the University of Indiana's annual summer school for coaches.

HELEN WILLS MOODY BACK FROM EUROPE

Back from Europe

New York—(P)—Her hold on the throne of women's tennis more secure than ever, Helen Wills Moody was back in New York today after a flying trip abroad in which she snared her fourth straight British and third straight French championship.

Arriving from Europe aboard the Majestic yesterday, Queen Helen plans a quick dash home to Berkeley, Calif., before returning to New York to defend her United States title at Forest Hills starting Aug. 18.

To suggestions that she was getting ready to retire after winning ten straight major singles titles, Mrs. Moody returned an emphatic denial. "I shall go on playing tennis indefinitely," she remarked.

Pittsburgh—(P)—Willie Davis, Charlie, Pa., outpointed Black Bill, Cuba, 10-0.

Newark, N. J.—George Courtney, Oklahoma City, outpointed Vince Gorgone, Philadelphia, 10-0.

Flint, Mich.—Roger Bernard, Flint, outpointed Steve Smith, Bridgeport, Conn., 10-0.

ALL TEAMS IN SAME LEAGUE HAVE 500

Frederick, Md.—(P)—All teams of the Blue Ridge Baseball league are tied with a percentage of .500, four wins and four defeats. The league, oldest class B league in the country, is operating this year with four teams—Chambersburg and Waynesboro in Pennsylvania and Frederick and Hagerstown in Maryland.

MANAGEMENT FAILS TO ISSUE TICKETS; YOUTHS STORM GATE

Chicago—(P)—It's no laughing matter when 3,000 high school boys and students free entry to a ball park, especially when Babe Ruth is one of the attractions, and more particularly when 10,000 other lads have gone past the gates on the same kind of passes held by the unhappy youngsters on the outside.

In such a situation, 3,000 Crane high school students took the only course they could think of yesterday: they started a fair-sized riot at Comiskey park. Fifty police, hurried from a nearby station, were helpless to halt the boys and the storming of the gates continued until the management ordered them admitted.

Then the secret of the trouble came out: A Chicago alderman had provided tickets for 15,000 boys and 3,000 of them had not been properly signed by owner Comiskey.

CLINTONVILLE NINE TRIMS WITTENBERG

Athletics Take Easy Win by 3 to 0 Score; Shawano Beats Tigerton

Clintonville—The Clintonville Athletics played a fast game in an invasion against Wittenberg Sunday. It was a no-hit, no-run game for Wittenberg. Petek pitched a wonderful game and only 27 men faced him. Boutac was on the receiving end for the Athletics and the game ended with a score of 3 to 0. The Athletics made 3 runs and 8 hits and Petek struck out 10 men.

The battery for Wittenberg was Dragermiller and Schetterer. They had no hits and no runs and Dragermiller struck out 9.

Other Wolf River Valley league results follow: Shawano defeated Tigerton, 8 to 7 and Antigone lost to Marion, 4 to 1.

In the Shawano County league, the Clintonville Boosters defeated Big Falls on the local diamond by a score of 12 to 5; Bowler Tilleda lost to Leapolis 15 to 0, and Embarras defeated Shawano 6 to 2.

AMERICAN JOCKEY RIDES KING'S HORSE

Madrid, Spain—(P)—Lucien Lyne, American jockey, riding for King Alfonso, placed third in the number of victories scored during the Spanish racing season which ended on Sunday. He was astride 17 winners. The King himself saddled 19 winners which brought him more than 100,000 pesetas, about $11,000, of the one million pesetas in prizes at the various meets.

LITTMAN TO FIGHT

Milwaukee—(P)—Tait Littman, Cudahy middleweight, signed last night to box George Courtney of New York as the feature event of a card Monday night, Pinky Mitchell, promoter, said.

An American clothier declares that since the Mussolini regime the men of Italy are becoming the best dressed in the world. And considering the Duce's disposition to speech-making, they're also the best addressed.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cook, Chicago, spent the weekend at the home of the former's aunt, Mrs. Emma Edd, while enroute to Eagle River where they expect to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Meating and daughter Elizabeth, Appleton, were visitors at the Washburn home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marie Ellsworth and son, Fred Calvin, who have been visiting at the Washburn home returned to their home at Minneapolis, Minn., Friday. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Joyce Meating who will spend the summer at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McLaughlin and daughter Muriel, who spent the past three weeks at Alfred, N. D., visiting relatives, returned home Sunday afternoon.

The way he's playing now, Art Spires seems as valuable as he is valuable.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 119 Varick St., New York, N. Y.

In buying be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips since 1875.

SPRAY POTATOES TO STOP BLIGHT, FARMERS ADVISED

Wide Experience in Many Communities Proves Value of Practice

BY DR. E. E. VAUGHN
Shall we spray potatoes for blight control. Before answering that question, let me tell you what blight is. When potato leaves die rapidly in the middle of summer or in the late summer, they have what is called blight. In wet seasons or in sections where there are frequent showers in July, the cause of the sudden death of the leaves is almost always a downy mildew fungus. This fungus is carried over winter in a few tubers that are planted in the field. Seed treatment is of no value because the fungus is buried in the inside of the potato beyond the reach of surface disinfection.

When the potato sprouts start from such infected seed, the fungus grows up inside them and breaks out on the outside of a few weak leaves when moisture is plenty. In wet weather these spores are produced in abundance on the infected leaves and are blown to healthy leaves. When they find a drop of water on the leaves, they grow rapidly and penetrate the leaf tissue causing in a few days a brown spot with a bright ring around it. On the under side of such a spot, spores are again produced. They may be carried some distance by the winds or if tuber production is well along the spores may be washed off the leaves by rain and lodge on the new potatoes near the top soil. When they grow in the potatoes they produce what is known as brown rot or blight rot.

What we are after is the control of the blight and rot. Fortunately experiments have shown that the blight fungus spores are easily killed when they come in contact with even minute quantities of copper. This information has led to the development of Bordeaux spray or dust for the prevention of blight.

In using the prepared Bordeaux mixture, follow directions on the package and make a mixture that is equivalent to the homemade formula 5-5-50 or 4-4-50. If you wish to use the dust application instead of a wet spray, the main precaution is that you get a Bordeaux that is designed for that purpose.

Bordeaux is valuable for something else than blight prevention. It is the best thing we know of for keeping away the leaf hoppers that cause the hopper burn. In dry seasons the hopper burn may be quite serious and cause the vines to have a burned, dry appearance. Some folks think this is blight but it is a mistake. There is no fungus present of the kind that produces blight and no rot follows the presence of hopper burn.

The number of times to spray with Bordeaux cannot be definitely told in advance because so much depends on the season. Usually from 3 to 5 applications are necessary for the best protection. The first spraying is due

JACQUELINE ON HER OWN

by RICHARD STARR

SYNOPSIS: Jacqueline Grey and Teddy Montrose are kindred souls in their love of adventure. Chance brought them both to a London restaurant one night. Jacqueline dined with Mrs. Porter Mason and Arthur Carey, alias Lenny Raymond and Teddy, broke and lonely, sat alone admiring the brown-eyed girl. He never expected he would meet her but fate drew them together later in the apartment of three card sharps who placed Teddy for an easy mark at cards. They threaten him when he wins heavily. Settlement of their differences is postponed when Jacqueline enters through the window. Circo's night club was raided and the terrified girl escaped. The three attempted to detain Jacqueline and Teddy, and the latter joyously bests the trio in a fight and they escape. In a taxi they introduce themselves.

Chapter 17
A BEGGAR'S ROMANCE
BEFORE Jacqueline Grey drifted off to sleep at the close of the most adventurous day of her life she reviewed the events that were climaxed by the glorious carefree moments she had spent with Teddy Montrose.

He obscured everything else in her thoughts which in itself was a compliment to the young man for Jacqueline had never thought about men much.

Neither had desired to end their adventure at the door of the Majestic and Jacqueline had agreed that Teddy might call again.

Now for the first time she realized what it might lead to and it seemed that only one course was open to her. He was Teddy Montrose, son of Franklin Montrose of the Montrose Shipping Line and it was obvious that he belonged to a different class of society.

In her sojourn among the wealthy she was not averse to bluffing those she met but she did not intend to let herself drift into the affections of any young man under false pretenses.

A great gulf stretched between them and it seemed a very dreary expanse. Nevertheless it existed and she must face the fact.

The depressing thoughts of the night were temporarily forgotten in the joy of the moment when Teddy Montrose very punctually appeared the next day and took her to a dainty little tea shop in the west end.

There they found a cozy little corner where they might enjoy their tete-a-tete.

At first Teddy was rather inclined to be serious. Jacqueline liked him just as much by daylight as she had at night in his evening clothes.

"I should like to tell you something about myself," he said, with a straight face.

"Gracious! Do you mean confessions?" He nodded. "If you feel it necessary to confess your past," returned Jacqueline sweetly. "I hope you don't expect me to do the same, because I am not going to."

Teddy waved his hand sketchily. "Forget it," he said. "You have no past."

"Haven't I? Don't you be too sure. I'm afraid my past would give you a serious shock."

But Teddy was too intent on his own past to heed her. "I am a penniless orphan," he said. "Not exactly an orphan, but an outcast. You understand."

"I'm afraid I don't."

"It's rather difficult. But I've been all sorts of a fool. My father says so, he ought to know, because he's had to pay for it. I'm just beginning to realize it now, when it's too late. I'm the only son, you know, and I've sown some oats in my time—wild ones. Of course, the Old Top—that's the father, you know—has always banged the table and roared, but the matter has smoothed things over and he has paid up. But lately the matter seems to have lost her charm somehow. The Old Top has been giving me a lot of anxiety—a lot of anxiety."

SAVINGS BANKS IN FAVOR ONCE MORE AS ACCOUNTS GROW

Public Forgets Speculative Fever and Acquires Thrift Again

BY PRESTON K. KRECKER
Copyright, 1936, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CFA)—Savings banks, scorned by the public last year during the "red" when the speculative fever was at its height, are coming back into popular favor. The Savings Banks association of New York reveals that interesting fact in an announcement that deposits in the savings banks of greater New York have set a new high record of $3,527,403,129. They gained $150,136,934 in the first six months of this year.

As a result of the steady increase, the savings banks of the city have not only filled the gap made by last year's withdrawal but have surpassed all previous figures.

While the statistics of savings banks the country over have not been brought similarly up to date, it is well known from earlier figures that the trend generally has been upward. It would occasion no astonishment, therefore, to find that savings deposits as a whole are about the same.

The renewed accumulation of savings bears an intimate relation with the subsidence of stock market activity.

PUBLIC HAD FEVER
The public last year was obsessed with the desire to get rich quickly. The stock market was popularly regarded as a royal road to wealth.

Just how much money the public lost in learning the painful lesson of the folly of speculation would be difficult to estimate. However, it is known that upwards of 20 billions of dollars were clipped off the values of stocks in a few months. Money withdrawn from savings banks to finance luckless ventures in the market was irrevocably lost.

The lesson was painful but it was thoroughly learned. The public is no longer interested in the stock market. It is only concerned in building up depleted savings accounts which pay 4 per cent regularly. It is a natural and healthy tendency of people to practice thrift in times of depression. There also is sound economy in that habit. Lately a new school of economists has arisen which preaches the gospel of spending in a restorative business. The theory is plausible but unsound. It leads to dissipation of capital instead of accumulation of it. Wealth is created by investment in constructive work and capital cannot be accumulated unless it is saved.

One of the factors in the rise of savings deposits at this time is the low return yielded on all forms of short term liquid investments.

HIGH RATES LAY
Government securities for short periods, the safest investment in the world, pay from 1.62 per cent to 2 per cent. Call loans pay 2 1/2 per cent and the time money pays but 1 1/2 per cent. Bankers' bills pay but 1 1/2 per cent, and so on down the entire line of short term money.

Savings banks pay 4 per cent and the money for all practical purposes is as liquid as government notes, for only in cases of extreme emergency will savings banks exercise their right to demand time for withdrawals.

As an outcome the ranks of savings depositors are no longer restricted to the thrifty wage earner, eager to accumulate a little nest egg, but have been swollen by business men and even corporations anxious to increase the return on their surplus funds not now needed to finance trade. Even some commercial banks have sought to deposit funds in New York savings institutions for probably the first time in the history of the latter. The fact that under the savings bank laws a single depositor is restricted to a comparatively small maximum sum, while in New York state is $7,500, naturally operated to prevent deposit of bank funds or corporate money. Some concerns, however, get around that limitation by distributing their money among a number of savings banks.

THINK CHICAGO GUNMEN INVADING BADGER STATE
Milwaukee—(AP)—Belief that Chicago gunmen were enlarging their territory and invading Wisconsin was expressed Monday by police investigating the holdup of the White Core roadhouse in which a Negro musician was shot by three bandits reported to have robbed the place of $1,000.

Frank Harkes, owner of the roadhouse, said two of the men entered the place and ordered the musician, Henry Johnson, to "stick 'em up." Johnson resisted and was shot through the neck. His condition was reported critical.

The two appeared shortly before closing time early Sunday. Harkes said after all the guests had left, Harkes, a waiter and the musician were the only persons reported in the place. Harkes said the men forced him to open the safe and hand over the money which he planned to use to pay off a mortgage. They escaped in a car bearing an Illinois license.

The men were said to have been armed with pistols and a sawed-off shotgun.

STILL DEBATE WAGES
New York—(AP)—The conference of architects, coal operators and miners attempting to frame a new working agreement reconvened Monday with agreement apparently still several days off.

The conference appeared to move smoothly all last week and raised hopes among conferees of an early settlement but several points came up which required further study and prolonged the conference into its third week.

New York—(AP)—Fire caused damage estimated at $50,000 to the $200,000 yacht Mono, owned by G. P. Morrow, head of the United Cigar Stores company, as it lay at anchor yesterday off Malibu, Long Island. Valuable works of art in the dining saloon were destroyed.

4-H Clubs Of County Active Last Week; Prize Winners To Be Named In Few Days

Activities among the 4-H clubs of the county last week continued at a fast rate and was set several weeks ago when the Appleton Post-Crescent announced that it, with the county agricultural department, would offer cash prizes to the clubs sponsoring the most worth while projects each month.

Last week a story in this newspaper announced that the first set of prize winners, for the month of June, would be named today. However, it was found necessary to postpone the naming of the winners until later in the week because the judges wanted more time to select the best clubs. Watch for the announcements of the first list of prize winners. See which clubs win also said that "the only new business properly to be credited to the present administration is chain banking."

"Instead of reducing taxes upon the farms, homes and other forms of real estate, the present administration has levied a real estate tax for state purposes of $4,296,000, the largest since 1925," LaFollette said.

"The present administration specifically pledged itself to revise the Smith income tax law of 1927 for the benefit of people with small incomes," he continued. "In the face of that pledge the present administration approved the introduction in the state senate of the original Dargatz bill which would have cost the taxpayers of Wisconsin $18,000,000 in lost income taxes."

As a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1928, Governor Kohler opposed the minority platform submitted to the convention by the Wisconsin member of the committee on resolutions—"a platform that declared for genuine relief for agriculture, the abolition of injunctions in labor disputes, the policy of public compulsion to force the power monopoly to give adequate service at reasonable rates for the maintenance of the income and inheritance tax laws and against the Mellon tax plan," the speaker said.

ATTACKS PRESIDENT
"The governor supported Herbert Hoover who secured his nomination only after Vane and Mellon of Pennsylvania had approved him," LaFollette continued. "He voted for the reactionary platform presented by Senator Smoot, under which the national administration has laid down its policies since March 4, 1929."

"Following the national convention, the present administration at Washington and Madison formed, conducted a joint campaign and made similar pledges of 'prosperity and economy.' Both administrations have pursued like policies since. Monopoly interests have secured the same favors from both and the farmer, worker and independent businessman the same scant consideration."

LaFollette assailed the Hawley-Smoot tariff as "the most outrageous tariff in the history of the nation." He said the tariff will add $40 per year to each Wisconsin family's cost of living.

NOTED CANADIAN AGE DROWNS IN LANDING
Toronto—(AP)—Lieut. J. D. Vance, one of Canada's best known air pilots, was killed at Hunter bay on Great Bear lake Monday when he attempted a landing in fog and smoke on water. He was apparently thrown from the cockpit and drowned. His passenger escaped with cut hands.

Lieut. Vance was a war pilot and after the war was engaged in conveying officials to and from the peace conference at Versailles. Recently he had been employed by the Dominion Explorers company.

Salaries Of Officials Big Issue In Youngstown Fight

Youngstown, Ohio—(AP)—The salary paid Eugene C. Grace as president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation was expected to become an issue Tuesday in the hearing on the injunction suit filed by minority Youngstown Steel and Tube stockholders who seek to block the merger of the two steel companies.

Grace, who was scheduled to testify today, is said by the anti-merger forces to have received $1,600,000 annually from the Bethlehem Steel corporation. The anti-merger forces have charged that huge salaries paid Bethlehem officials were concealed from the Sheet and Tube shareholders when they were asked to ratify the merger.

Grace, in a deposition in New York, declined to reveal his salary, but said he would do so on the witness stand if so directed by the court.

The Bethlehem president was called as the fourth "hostile" witness examined by attorneys for the plaintiffs—the Eaton-controlled International Shares corporation and Hugh C. Wick, Jr., of Youngstown, a sheet and tube stockholder.

He followed Elton Hoyt II, of Cleveland, a partner in Pickands, Mather and Company, who yesterday testified that he plunged into the proxy war preceding the stockholders' approval of the merger because he thought his concern had been "unfairly attacked and brought into this thing in an entirely uncalled for way."

He corroborated the previous testimony of Henry Dalton, another Pickands, Mather partner, that the ore firm had spent $2,000,000 for 60,000 shares of Sheet and Tube the $2, $3 and $1 prizes offered by the Post-Crescent to the three clubs sponsoring the most worth while projects.

All club activities will count in selecting the winners. One of the requirements of the contest is that clubs must submit reports after each meeting or activity to Gus Sell, county agent. At the end of the month the club must send in a summarized report listing all its activities of the previous month. The activities will be considered first and the reports will be considered next. The reports must be made in order that a club may be eligible for the prizes. Watch for the first prize list this week.

CALF CLUB IS LEADER
Perhaps one of the most outstanding meetings of the last week was that of the Kaukauna Calf club, which was attended by 31 members. This is one of the largest clubs in the county. At the opening of the meeting the members discussed their calves and the various problems they encountered in connection with raising the animals. A program was presented after the open forum discussion with many of the members taking part. Norbert Van Zeeeland, who was awarded a free trip to the state 4-H club camp at Madison because he had the best Guernsey calf in the county, gave a report on the trip. Mr. Jansen and Mr. Towsley, club leaders, gave talks. Miss Elene Krueger is the club reporter.

One new club was organized last week by the girls from the Elder Row school district, Bear Creek. The first meeting was held at the home of the leader, Mrs. E. H. Anderson. Officers of the new club are: Fern Schultz, president; Janet Jarvis, vice president; Mildred Phillips, secretary and club reporter. The club decided to meet twice a month during the summer and once a month during the winter. The next meeting will be July 22 when a picnic luncheon will be served. Miss Phillips is to be complimented on the neat and complete report which she submitted on the meeting.

Three members of the Willing Workers club, Black Creek, will attend the county 4-H club camp, it was announced at a meeting of the club last week. They are Alfred and Hilda Piechocki and the leader, Frieda Piechocki. Laura Riehl and Hilda Piechocki, members of the club's demonstration team, have started their work. Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, attended the meeting and inspected the finished garments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Ruth Schultz on July 17.

ELECT DELEGATES
Two delegates to the 4-H club camp were elected at a meeting of the Riverview club at the home of Charles Carter. The club decided to follow the leader's advice and send four members of the group as their representatives to the camp. The delegate's expenses will be paid by the club. The next meeting will be held Aug. 5. Miss June decline in farm wages was reported Monday by the agriculture department. From April 1 to July 1 as against the "usual farm wage advance of 6 per cent for the period."

The decline, brought the farm wage index to the lowest July 1 level recorded since compilation of records began in 1923.

The report attributed the recession to "a decline in business activity with a resultant increase in industrial unemployment."

"The supply of farm labor on July 1," the report said, "was the largest reported by farmers in any month covered by available records. Unemployed industrial workers have apparently turned to the country in search of a livelihood since reports indicate a supply of farm labor at 103.4 per cent of normal."

Dr. R. P. Richardson of Union City, Okla., also is a banker, farmer, druggist, postmaster and cotton gin operator.

KONJOLA ENDS TEN YEARS OF LIVING TORTURE
"Konjola Banished My Ailments Within a Short Time," Says Happy Lady, Relief Is Lasting

MRS. MARIA DOUGALL
Only those who have tried Konjola know what it can do. I have found the way to lasting relief and glorious health, and I realize why Konjola is called the 'miraculous' medicine with more than a million friends." Read what Mrs. M. Dougall, 2295 Lyon street, St. Louis, says about Konjola:

"Bloating pains and indigestion always followed my meals. For ten years I suffered from stomach trouble and neuritis. My fingers were so swollen that my hands were almost useless. Konjola banished all my ailments in a short time, and I began to eat and feel better. Today I feel like a new person, and I owe it all to Konjola. I cannot praise Konjola too highly."

Konjola does the work quickly, thoroughly, and naturally. It is the only medicine that has been found to be safe and effective. Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Daniels was admitted to the club as a new member.

The Pleasant Hill club decided to stage a tour of the homes of the various members to inspect the projects each is carrying out. This decision was made at a meeting last week. The next meeting will be held July 27 at the home of Wilbur Warming.

The Hickory Grove club, at a meeting last week, decided that at future meetings at homes of the members the member would bring his calf out as a demonstration and explain to the other members how he is taking care of it. After the business meeting the club played indoor basketball and other games. The next meeting will be held Aug. 3 at the home of Edward Roessler.

VAMPY DRESS IS LATEST IN PARIS
Close-fitting Model Is Relieved by Shaped Chiffon Flounces

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1936, By Cons. Press
New York, (CFA)—Among the newest thoughts for the evening gown in Paris is the very close-fitting, snaky and vampy princess dress, which is relieved by shaped chiffon flounces that run up and down the skirt from waist to hem. The flounces simulate fullness, but, being of chiffon, prevent no one from observing that the gown fits closely.

COLORFUL LONDON
Pale tea-rose pink satin or tulle is being worn by the evening gowns in London. Beige and green, brown and green, or green and red flecked with yellow, are favorite color combinations for sports clothes. And the favorites among silk blouses are those of cream or pinky eggshell.

MORE MOIRE
Shoes of black moire are at the height of their vogue right now and will continue to be smart for formal wear all summer. Linen shoes are correct for summer daytime wear. And crepe shoes, dyed to match the costume, are predicted as a predominant idea for autumn. As to satin shoes, various chic women declare these are always fashionable while various other chic women declare that this season they are not; some exclusive shops carry them, some don't; certain mode creators are for 'em, certain others agin' 'em; so one uses one's own judgment and gets crepe, anyway.

JADWIN MAY REJECT POWER BUREAU POST
Washington—(AP)—Reports reached the White House Monday that Lieutenant General Edgar Jadwin would not accept the chairmanship of the newly created Federal Power commission to which President Hoover recently announced he would appoint him. The retired army officer, declined to verify or deny the reports, which were accepted as credible in government quarters.

BUSINESS BUREAU TO FIGHT PATENT MEDICINE MAKERS

Prepare "Rouges" Gallery," Listing 25,000 Purveyors

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1936, By Cons. Press
New York—(CFA)—Alma, the nineties, a Pittsburgh patent medicine magazine telegraphed to New York: "What is your latest plan for 1,000 gross white pills? Give a name." A few lines later, the president of the United States allowed the use of his name in the magazine for the exploitation of the "Tea." It was the golden age of the cure-all.

Today the New York department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Inc., has prepared a "Rouges" gallery, listing 25,000 purveyors of fraudulent medicines, patent medicine systems and health food systems. This is the first instance of either city or national health bureau having such a list. The list is being distributed to the various health bureaus and the public. WILEY BIG CRUSADER
Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, great crusader for pure food and drugs, who died a few days ago at Washington, probably did more than any other one man to direct the attention of the country to the flood of spurious health bluge which was doping and duping the nation. It is unfortunate that he should not have lived a few days longer, to witness the consummation of his efforts in this first large-scale roundup of the medical "gyps."

While the medical profession doubtless has profited by calls from persons loaded with patent medicines, its professional standards have been frustrated by the famed medical hucksters of other years.

In combating these parasites, the doctors were handicapped by the fact that the makers of the cure-alls could advertise and the doctors could not. As modern scientific inquiry began to play down medicine and to play up diet and sound preventive measures, the propertious claims of the alchemists began to be shown up. The last ten years, with the war continuing greatly to detract from the education of the public, have seen a vast spread of education in these matters.

BULLS AND BEARS
BATTLE TO RULE
MARKET ACTIONS

Strength in Trading Still Persists Despite Bears Fear of Collapse

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGEE
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York (AP)—The newly organized bull forces encountered stiff opposition in today's stock market from the die-hard bears who felt that speculation for the rise was becoming rash, but the full reaction was kept in check by the fact that the market was fairly well in hand.

The broad advance yesterday caused considerable nervousness among traders who had followed the upswing despite lack of confidence, and profit taking in addition to the efforts of bears playing for a technical reaction gave the market a rather uncertain aspect much of the time.

A few rather pleasing second quarter earnings statements helped to bolster confidence although it is well known in Wall Street that the best reports usually appear first. National Biscuit earned 80 cents per share, against 54 cents a year ago; General Electric, 51 cents, against 38 last year, and Commonwealth Edison, $2.67, against $2.73. Western Union earned only $2.75 in the June quarter, against $3.82 in the like period of last year, but this was a wide gain over the $1.45 reported for the first quarter.

The fact that several leading companies have managed to approach the record of the second quarter of 1929 is construed as highly favorable, in view of the substantial curtailment of general business, but current estimates indicate that when all the evidence is in, corporate earnings generally will show a substantial decline.

The rail stocks were helped by devaluation of another $1 dividend by Missouri, Kansas & Texas. The 10-cent dividend paid in the last quarter was regarded as purely a special disbursement, and in view of the current low levels of freight traffic, Wall Street was inclined to doubt that the management would order another at this time. The fact that the management saw fit to pay it, largely from surplus, indicates confidence that better times are ahead.

Call money continued plentiful, and after renewing at 3 1/2 per cent, again sagged to 2 1/2, although time money was firmer, with quotations up 1/4 of one per cent. The firming of time money is regarded as in anticipation of the seasonal increase in the demand for funds which develops in the latter months of the year, incident to crop moving and other developments. The weekly statement of reporting member banks showed a drop of $75,000,000 in security loans against a reduction of only $10,000,000 in brokers' loans for the same period, in contrast to recent trends.

A strong feature of the early afternoon was American Telephone, which surged up more than six points. Sponsors of the move point out that the stock should do better after the rights expire August 1, and that such a stock cannot be expected to sell long at level to yield more than four per cent. The first half earnings statement was favorably regarded.

In the rail, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, surged up four points, and New York Central, Frisco, Erie and Nashville were among those gaining or more.

Such pool favorites as Vanadium and Houston Oil gained more than 1 point. American Tobacco, B. Foster Wheeler, Eastman Kodak, and Timken Roller gained 2 or more. Among the low-priced issues, Kellogg and Radio were among those gaining a strong spot, rising more than 1/2 point.

Shares that were strong yesterday mounted considerable profit taking, and many of the pivotal industries barely held steady. Such issues as U. S. Steel, General Electric and Radio moved in narrow ranges.

Profit taking reduced the advances in the final hour, when some stocks leveled off of their gains and sagged below the previous close. American Telephone lost a point, and Vanadium dropped its gain of 7 and Vanadium dropped its gain of more than three points. U. S. Steel, after selling about a point higher, reached moderately below Monday's final quotation, the close was firm. Sales approximated 3,000,000 shares.

Closing prices were somewhat above the day's lowest. American Telephone was bought forward as the leader of the advance, and was up 1/2 point, ending at 110 1/2. U. S. Steel closed up 1/2. On the other hand, closing quotations displayed a long list of declines. General Electric, Radio, electric power and light, Eastman, Atchafalpa and Bethlehem lost a point or more.

DECLINE IN HOG MARKET IS HALTED
Attempt to Bring Light and Heavy Hog Prices Together a Temporary Relief

Chicago (AP)—A serious attempt to diminish the gap between light and heavy hogs appeared today to have temporarily halted the decline of big weight butchers while lighter sorts and packing sows slid down another 10 to 15 cents at the start of trade. Commission men demanded steady prices for heavy hogs at $23.50 down from yesterday's decline had dropped most big weights to less than $20.00. Higher prices in the dressed pork markets in the east supported sellers in their demands. Against them, however, were the facts that the run at eleven markets was larger than a week ago, and Chicago's two-day total stands 25,000 heavier than that for last Monday and Tuesday. Also a bad feature today was the presence of 9,000 holdovers from the sluggish close yesterday. Choice 190-lb weights sold at $20.75.

The outlet for all but heavy steers was improved for today's cattle market by the rise of the dressed beef markets in the east yesterday and light cattle, both steers and heifers, were held at steady quotations. Early sales were below $10.50 for light hogs, but everything over 1,200 lbs was neglected. The supply of 7,500 was 50 per cent larger than last Tuesday's, and since half of these were heavy cattle, little improvement could be expected.

Continued hammering on lamb prices, with the market weak from too liberal supplies, made the outlook bad for today's trade. Packing houses took 3,300 direct, were slow to buy, and little was done on the part.

NEWS OF EXPORT BUSINESS SENDS WHEAT PRICE UP
Relative High Prices for Corn in Comparison Strengthened Wheat Too

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
(Associated Press Market Editor)

Chicago (AP)—Indications of liberal export business in United States wheat by way of the Gulf of Mexico late much to lift the wheat market late today. Relative high prices for corn as compared with wheat formed another outstanding factor that tended to hold wheat values. The spread between corn prices and those for wheat was said to be the smallest since 1925, when corn sold at 50 cents a bushel over wheat for a brief period, whereas last the same year wheat went to 51 cents over corn.

Adding to the market effect of Calgary and Edmonton reports of dust storms were dispatches today from a Chicago crop expert at Moosejaw, Canada, saying the heaviest wheat acreage of south central Saskatchewan is in a very bad way as a result of drought and excessive heat. He said a section 150 miles long and nearly as wide is suffering severely. Other Chicago crop observers telegraphed that from Glendive, Mont., nearly to Sidney 80 per cent of wheat acreage is seriously injured, much a total loss, with many fields east of Whistler, N. D., being out for hay.

Commission house selling of wheat future deliveries, increased, however, at 91 cents and over for September. Much of the selling which at this point caused reactions was apparently based on reports that the federal farm board has not given any consideration to stabilization plans for this year's wheat crop. Notice was also being taken of Washington advice that President Hoover is leaving matters regarding the wheat situation entirely up to the farm board.

Corn prices owed their upturns today largely to suggestions of a recurrence of last week's conditions of excessive heat and drought in the corn belt. It was pointed out that this is a critical time for the corn crop, that the period of bloom is rapidly approaching, and that high temperatures and lack of moisture at such a juncture would insure a special menace. Arrivals of corn in Chicago today totaled 73 cars, against 46 cars a week ago, and 126 at this time last year.

Corn showed a firm undertone throughout the day, with July acting light. Lack of offerings advanced July 2 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish. Sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves on the way up. Stocks of corn at Chicago are less than 1,000,000 bushels with only 84,000 bushels in store. Country offerings were reported as somewhat larger. Oats were influenced mainly by action of other grain.

Provisions reflected an improved export demand for lard.

STANDARD STOCK STATISTICS

Copyright 1929 by Standard Statistics Company, Inc. 20 York St., New York

HARNISCHFEGER CORP.
Both bookings and shipments of Harnischfeger Corp. were at a higher rate during the first part of this year than in the corresponding period a year ago, but business for the first half will probably be only moderately above that of the first half of 1929. Four the full year the company is expected to earn an amount somewhat smaller than 1929 net of $1,040,048. Earnings in recent years had shown a steady upward tendency. Harnischfeger makes cranes, hoists, electric powered shovels, bucket elevators, etc. The company's business is conservative. There are 300,000 shares of no par common stock outstanding and $2,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred. An additional block of 40,000 common shares is reserved for exercise of warrants for the purchase of stock at $40 a share until October 1, 1934.

WARNER COMPANY
Operations of Warner Co. were satisfactory in the first part of this year, although heavy volume of business is not expected until the second half. Construction work planned throughout the Delaware River district indicates excellent sales during the third and fourth quarter. Business consists primarily in production, transportation and wholesaling of sand, gravel and lime products, as well as plaster, cement and mixed concrete. The company is enlarging its facilities for production of central-mixed concrete, in addition to making plant additions and consolidating various units with a view to reducing operating expenses. Net income for the period from April 8 to Dec. 31, 1929, was $1,315,130. Dividends are at the annual rate of $2 a share. Current assets at the close of 1929 amounted to $3,124,333 against $332,892 current liabilities.

GENERAL FIREPROOFING COMPANY
Sales of General Fireproofing and net available for common stock in 1929 were about 25 per cent above the previous year, due to the high rate of activity of all industries during the year. Momentum carried the production rate into the first part of 1930, but since the first two months the tendency has been for slower operations. Production has been gradually let down over the second quarter. Net in 1929 amounted to $1,057,353 compared with $765,000 or $244 in 1928. Earnings have been relatively stable in the recent past. Current dividend rate is $2 per year, with an extra of 25c paid Jan. 1, 1930. Company is engaged in the manufacture of fireproof office equipment, and is said to be the largest maker of metal desks in the country. Other products are steel safes, files, and similar equipment. Recently, retail store fixtures and aluminum chairs were introduced as part of the line of products.

POOL OPERATORS TRY FEW ISSUES

General Movement Upward Though Profit-taking Caused Irregularity

New York (AP)—Stocks pointed upward in a fairly busy session of the curb market today. Pool operators were apparently being tried in a few issues, while sentiment in the general list seemed to have improved further, although profit-taking at intervals kept prices somewhat irregular.

Specialties and industrials outstripped the utilities. Driver Harris advanced a dozen points to yesterday's advance, American Tobacco "B", New American Cynamid "B", Cuneo Press and Columbia Pictures easily rose a point or more. Fokker, Crockier Wheeler and Dresser manufacturing were firm. Aluminum of America rose several points.

American Superpower was one of the most active utilities, pushing up above 25. American Cities Power and Light "A", American Gas and Electric, Pennsylvania Power and Light, Electric Power and Light, and Central States Electric moved up one to three points, while Electric Bond and Share was in demand a point or so above yesterday's close. Profit-taking tendencies kept the move in the group to small proportions.

The oils were quiet and fluctuated narrowly. In the investment trust division, Trans-America firmed and jumped into bullish after its recent advance. Electric Shareholders firmed, gained more than 5 points. Call money renewed at 3 per cent and was later dropped to 2 1/2.

SIMMONS EMPLOYEES WHO BOUGHT STOCK WON'T LOSE

Kenosha (AP)—Employees who purchased Simmons company stock when it was voted at 10 1/2 and now holding it at around 24 are to have an opportunity to sell at the price paid for the stock plus five per cent of their holdings, according to a statement made today. Z. G. Simmons, president of the company, announced today. A. H. Lance, vice president, and the estate of Mrs. Minnie Simmons Towne, are making possible the plan. Mr. Simmons explained that employees eagerly purchased the stock when it was offered several months ago, and the company officials decided that the workers should not suffer the loss possible under the stock's descent.

FREAR NAMED TO MUNICIPAL BODY BY HOUSE SPEAKER

Another Wisconsin Congressman to Study National Capital Affairs

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Corrs.
Washington—Another Wisconsin congressman has been added to the list of those helping run the agitating municipal affairs of the District of Columbia.

Rep. James A. Frear of Hudson was named by Speaker Longworth as a member of the special House of Representatives committee to study the financial relations between the District of Columbia and the federal government.

The particular row which this committee is designated to settle is the question of the amount the federal government shall contribute to operating the National Capital. Since Uncle Sam holds such valuable properties in the District of Columbia and since Uncle Sam's real estate, buildings, automobiles, furnishings, and other property cannot be taxed, naturally Uncle Sam has to contribute something to pay for maintaining the municipal government, from which he gets police and fire protection, street paving and so on.

Formerly the two entities contributed half and half to the city's expenses. This was changed to a 60-40 ratio. Then the House of Representatives insisted on a lump sum contribution. This year the House insisted that the lump sum should be $9,000,000 and the Senate insisted that it should be $12,000,000 and after a long battle, a compromise of $5,500,000 was reached.

FREAR IN DISCUSSION
Rep. Frear took a large part in this discussion, supporting the House side and in the midst of the furor introduced bills providing for local income and inheritance taxes for the District of Columbia.

Of course, the question is vital to inhabitants of the District, for the less the federal government contributes, the more taxes property owners have to pay. Rep. Frear pointed out how much less taxes the newspapers of the District of Columbia pay than do Wisconsin newspapers, for the Washington papers were advocating higher federal contribution. He thinks that Capital residents should pay income and inheritance taxes, in addition to the federal income and inheritance

Historical Pageant To Be Given This Week In Britain

Stratford-on-Avon, England.—(AP)—Shakespeare's county—Warwickshire—has completed preparations for a pageant to be given tomorrow and on the three days following that shall rival in magnificence and historical interest the famous one of 1906.

Warwick castle is again to furnish the background. Fully 5,000 performers will take part. All over the county little bands of women have been busy making costumes appropriate to the periods to be enacted, and artists, craftsmen, musicians and dancers have united to make the pageant a success.

Miss Sybil Thorncliffe and her husband, Lewis Casson, will recite the prologue which John Drifkwater has written. After a druidic song the spectators will see barbaric-looking Britons and Romanized islanders engaged in a conflict which ends in the victory of the more disciplined Roman warriors.

Next will be shown the arrival of St. Augustine—an opportunity for impressive chanting by the male chorists.

The third episode covers William Rufus. Medieval pageantry will reach its zenith in the next episode, depicting "the passing of Richard Beauchamp, earl of Warwick." Beauchamp's remains were brought to Warwick for sepulture in the famous chapel built for the purpose.

taxes, as do the citizens of some twenty states.

The committee to which he was appointed by the Speaker is to investigate and "recommend to the House such new forms of taxation and sources of revenue and such changes in existing forms of taxation and courses of revenue as to them may seem just and fair."

Rep. Frear is a member of the Ways and Means committee and thus is a student of taxation.

Other members of the Wisconsin delegation who have been in the heat of several District of Columbia battles because of their membership on District of Columbia committees, are Sen. John J. Blaine, who fought on the question of the street car merger and the regulation of real estate financing; Rep. Merlin Hull of Black River Falls, who blocked the street car merger in the House and prevented a taxicab monopoly; and Rep. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh, a leader in the fights for more pay for policemen and firemen and against the "loan shark bill."

Pomp and circumstance are seen in every part of this episode.

Some of the most famous characters in Shakespeare's plays, and the Bard of Avon himself, will appear in the next episode. Then will follow the "stately revels" of King Henry VIII, when Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, spent a small fortune in his endeavor to captivate Queen Elizabeth. Some of the music actually used by the Coventry mummings on that occasion will be heard.

In the next episode, introducing the civil war period, Charles I will be seen just before the battle of Edgehill, and a thrilling scene, depicting a house in flames, will be presented.

Finally will come the regency period and the visit paid to Leamington Spa in 1819 by the prince regent, afterwards George IV. This is a very "dramatic" episode, in which Leamington's fairest women will appear.

Of special interest to Americans is the fact that this pageant owes its origin to the Women's Institute movement.

WASHINGTON MAN TO BE ENVOY TO NORWAY

Washington.—(AP)—Hoffman Philip of Washington was selected by President Hoover Monday to succeed Laurits Swenson of Minnesota as minister to Norway. Mr. Philip will not assume his duties for several months, during which time Mr. Swenson will remain at the post.

Mr. Philip has been in the diplomatic service since 1901. His last post was as minister to Persia, which he resigned because of ill health.

STEPPATHER SLAIN, GIRL IS ARRESTED

Claims She Shot Only to Frighten Him After He Beat Her

London, Ky.—(AP)—Ruby Sears, 17-year-old high school girl, was in jail awaiting trial today on a charge of slaying her stepfather, John Sears, 35, at their home in Pittsburg, four miles north of here.

Members of the family told Deputy Sheriff Ed Steele, who arrested the girl, that the shooting climaxed a quarrel that began when the girl ignored Sears' order to eat her breakfast Sunday. They said Sears tossed dishes at her and then she ran into the yard with him in pursuit.

The stepfather choked her and struck her, the officer was told, and the girl went into the house, got a pistol, and returning, began firing at random. One shot hit Sears in the chest and he died in a few minutes. The girl's mother and a 10-

CITIES' OFFICIALS TO FACE FEDERAL CHARGES

Des Moines, Iowa.—(AP)—Faced with counter charges of obstructing enforcement of the Volstead act after they had arrested and fined two federal prohibition officers for traffic violations, three city officers of McGregor and Marquette and a private citizen of Marquette were free on bond Monday.

The quartet, Mayor Frederick Walter and Marshal C. D. Phelps of McGregor and Marshal Frank Barton and Ernest Lange of Marquette, were released on $2,000 bonds each after arraignment before a United States commissioner.

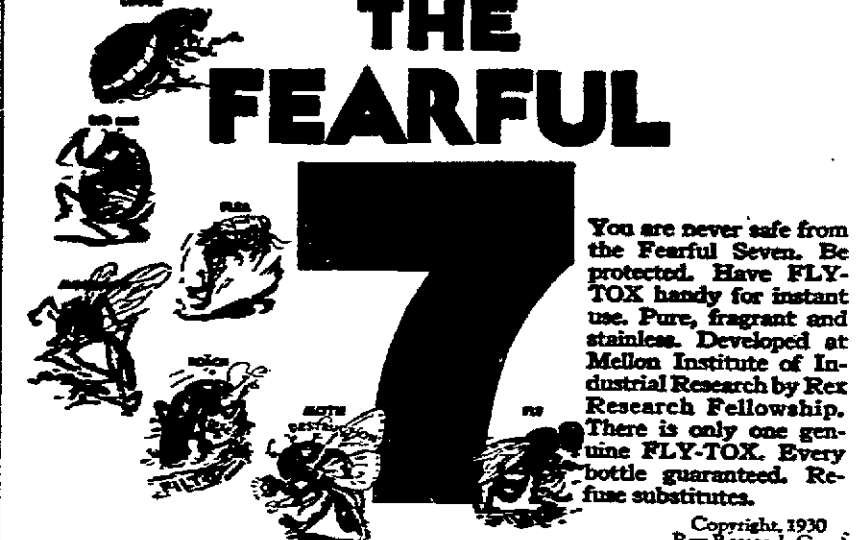

The filing of federal charges at the direction of Col. George C. Parsons, deputy prohibition administrator, followed an alleged attempt of year-old half brother witnessed the tragedy.

The girl told the deputy that she fired at Sears merely to frighten him.

Mrs. Sears told the officer that her husband frequently had "spells." She said he had broken practically every dish in the house.

A Word About Lowered Prices

MUCH is being said in retail advertising all over the country about the lowered prices of merchandise due to changing conditions in the markets for almost every type of goods. Many merchants are featuring comparative price lists, quoting the prices of specific items in 1929 and the lowered price of the same item in 1930.

Pettibone's is determined now, as it always has been, to give its patrons the utmost value for every dollar they spend. Quality, style, rightness, timeliness are first considerations and price is equitably adjusted to them. Quality and style will never be sacrificed to price in this Store, but as the manufacturers reduce their prices this advantage will be passed on to our customers in lowered prices. This is not a new policy with Pettibone's. It was pursued by the organizers of this institution in 1860 and has been consistently followed to the present day.

Lower prices to Pettibone's means lower prices to Pettibone patrons, a policy that is fair to everyone concerned.
